Hoover in Florida.
Kaiser No Coward.
880,000,000 Hot Dogs.
One More Miracle.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

HERBERT HOOVER is in Florida and welcome, as you may imagine. To have a Californ n visit Florida for a vacation is a tribute.

California need not worry, for in this case it is distance that counts. Mr. Hoover is within reach of the crowd from Washington, and that crowd he must deal with until after March 4.

WHEN his work begins, Mr. Hoover evidently expects to be a busy President. He will enlarge the working space in the White House, the "offices," probably to make room for specialists in engineering and other work that he has in mind.

MESSRS. HILL, MACHOLD AND HILLES are said to be "Mr. Hoover's triumvirate to keep New York state in line and hold the gains among independent voters won in the last election."

What happened in the last election is not understood by anybody who imagines that it is simply a case of "independent voters" moving from one party to the other.

A LETTER by Gen. von Hindenburg, President of the German republic, to be sold at auction, says, "The Kaiser is no deserter." The armistice stopped the war, says Gen. Hindenburg, and so the Kaiser had no opportunity "to die like a hero at the head of his troops." The Kaiser left for Holland because he did not want to stir up civil war at home.

THE Kaiser was no coward, and his regiment of tall sons were not cowards. But they missed many opportunities to "die like heroes at the head of their troops" before the war stopped. That hurt them with Germany. One little wound, on one little Prince, would have helped Hohenzollern popularity.

CHICAGO packers say 880,000,000 sausages, commonly called "hot dogs," were eaten last year.

Properly made, well cooked, eaten at regular hours, and chewed slowly to avoid swallowing small pieces whole, the "hot dogs" are good for men. But eaten between meals, haphazard and rapidly, they contribute to the 50,000,000 cases of American dyspepsia.

A CHILD in Chicago, 5 years old, born without feet, will be enabled to walk, run and play by surgeons operating on the muscles of the upper leg.

That is an interesting miracle, and there are many others in modern science. Those born deaf and dumb, that never hear a sound, learn to speak and understand the speech of others. With imagination's power, never having seen the earth or the sun or the sound of a friend's voice, they are able to understand beauty and friendship.

That answers those who ask: "Is there really such a thing as a soul?"

COUNT SFORZA, once Italian minister for foreign affairs, anti-Fascist and now out of a job, coming to lecture for the Carnegie Peace Endowment, says, "The only lesson of the war is that no one won."

THAT'S one lesson, but there is one more important. It teaches that the wise nations prepared for war. If France hadn't been prepared, able to hold the German army back, giving England time to assemble an army, William and his sons might each have a throne in Western Europe now.

MAGISTRATE EWALD, who believes in respect for the lives of others, sentenced 11 speeders to terms in jail and made them walk to prison handcuffed together.

This seems severe, but it is important to impress upon motorists the truth that the man on foot has a right to live.

SUCCESS depends on ORGANIZATION. With the right kind of organization, and if you know how to ORGANIZE, DEPUTIZE, SUPERVISE, you are safe.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., supposed to be engaged in a hard fight with Col. Stewart for control of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, is wandering through Egypt, looking at interesting mummies. He knows that his organization is at work.

"PUSSYFOOT" JOHNSON, now at Singapore, bound for India, says he means to "dry up all of the East."

Kipling's man who wanted to be taken "somewhere east of Suez," where a man can raise a thirst, would not like that.

JOHNSON even hopes to establish prohibition in Britain, thinking the British will give up beer. They have a queer idea that men have a right to drink what they want to drink.

A $5,000,000 corporation is organized to finance purchase of airplanes on the installment plan, as buying of automobiles is financed.

That is excellent news for aviation. Installment selling, once violently opposed, is absolutely necessary to complete development of the automobile industry, and will doubtless promote the airplane industry.

Enjoy it while you pay for it, is the modern plan.

GEORGE R. HARSH, very young man, of Atlanta, entered a drug store, shot the clerk dead when he resisted robbery. Medical experts say the young man could not resist an impulse once it laid hold upon him.

WHAT we call civilization has the same trouble. It cannot resist the impulse to execute

WCAE ACTS TO SOLVE AIR JAM

By DARRELL V. MARTIN.
Radio Editor.

Convinced that steel buildings are not conducive to the best transmission of radio signals on a low wavelength, WACE officials have asked the Federal Radio Commission for permission to remove the control room and aerial from downtown Pittsburgh to the Gimbel warehouse, South Side.

KEEP 245.8 WAVE

At the same time the local station withdrew its plea for a higher wavelength.

A decision may be expected in a few days on the application, a telegram from Chairman Robinson, of the Federal Radio Commission, stated late today. No objection to the application is contemplated, he said.

WCAE has been operating on 245.8 meters since November 11, 1928, when the Federal Radio Commission reallocated three-fourths of the stations in the country in an effort to effect better reception. The plan worked fine in most cities, but in Pittsburgh it relegated WCAE to a "radio graveyard."

Thousands of persons complained to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, begging that some action be taken to put the local station back on its wave length of 461.3 meters. Finally, by agitation, a number of congressmen and radio engineers were induced to plead for WCAE before the Federal Radio Commission.

BOAD ADMITS TROUBLE

No hearing was necessary, the Radio Board deciding almost overnight that some alteration would be necessary.

At first it was indicated that the commission would try to reallocate WCAE, presumably on a high wave length, but hopes for this change died the other day when it became known that a Canadian wave length would have to be appropriated to

BOY HELD AS TAXI BANDIT

A confessed youthful bandit, who has been a terror to taxicab drivers for the last two months, police say, was held for court on 40 charges today by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court along with three alleged accomplices, one a woman.

Roy Filmore, 20, of 18 East General Robinson street, who said he came here from Reading in November, admitted to Brandon that he had held up cab drivers in all parts of the city, getting small sums, and driving away with the cars after forcing the driver to alight.

He was held on 15 charges of highway robbery, 14 of pointing firearms and carrying concealed weapons, nine of larceny, one each of felonious shooting and malicious shooting. Included in the holdups to which he confessed was the shooting of Peter Bubanovich, saloonkeeper, of 3924 Sewickley road, the night of January 15. Bubanovich was released from the hospital last Sunday.

THREE OTHERS HELD

Others held were Mrs. Mary Bender, 27, of 2642 Norwood street, who admitted harboring Filmore, who accidentally shot himself in the right hand in the Bubanovich holdup; George Mayer, 32, of 1708 Chateau street and Roy Young, 17, of 63 North Sprague avenue, Bellevue. The Bender woman and Mayer, were charged with being accessories and Young with highway robbery.

Magistrate Brandon issued summons for appearance before him tomorrow of Dr. D. A. Atkinson, burgess of West View, following testimony of the Bender woman that Atkinson had dressed Filmore's wounded hand in her home and that he had advised them to "get out of town."

DOCTOR'S DENIAL

Dr. Atkinson denied he had made such a statement.

"I was called to dress a young man's hand," said Atkinson, "but had no idea he had been shot in connection with a robbery. He told me he had been shot while scuffling with another youth over an automatic pistol. I haven't seen him since. I regarded the shootting entirely as accidental or I would have notified the police."

Patrolman Peter Connors, who caused arrest of the gang, exhibited a revolver which figured in the Bubanovich shooting, he said. It was recovered from a California avenue sewer where Filmore confessed throwing it, Connors said.

Raymond Miller, 20, of 710 Orchard avenue, Bellevue, arrested in connection with the case, was discharged by Brandon.

Bus Wreck Came On Anniversary Of Texas Crash

WACO, Tex., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—The fatal interburban-bus crash near Bellevue, O., yesterday, occurred on the second anniversary of the virtual annihilation of Baylor University's basketball team. Memorial services for the victims were in progress at the university yesterday almost at the time of the crash in Ohio.

SECOND RACKET TRIAL BRINGS GUILTY PLEA

E. J. Kantner, indicted in the county probe of rum and slot machine racketeers, pleaded guilty to possessing a slot machine in his saloon at 620 East Ohio street in Criminal Court today.

He is the second defendant to be arraigned for trial, the first also pleading guilty.

Judge James B. Drew announced that Kantner would be sentenced on Saturday.

MORE TO PLEAD

More of the so-called "small fry" of the 244 alleged racketeers indicted as the result of the county grand jury probe, are expected to enter pleas of guilty, reducing the prosecution of the cases to trials of the important defendants, comprising policemen, politicians and elected magistrates. District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner stated today.

He said he expected a number of pleas of not guilty, entered during the general arraignment day last week, to be changed to pleas of guilty.

FINED $50, PAROLED

In the first case called for trial when the prosecution was initiated yesterday, George Burnside, the defendant, changed his plea to guilty through his attorney, William J. Graham. Burnside admitted maintaining a slot machine in his confectionary store at 106 Anderson street, North Side. Judge Drew fined him $50 and costs and paroled him for one year, with an alternative sentence of six months to the workhouse for a violation of the parole. The trials of two other defendants listed for yesterday, Michael Crowley and Harry Klein, were postponed.

"Happy" Butler, charged with maintaining gambling devices or slot machines, also was listed for trial today.

2 DRIVERS BLAME STORM

BELLEVUE, O., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Four investigations have been started to determine responsibility for the crash yesterday when a Lake Shore electric train struck a Greyhound Lines bus, killing 19 of the 32 passengers and injuring the others.

Of the 13 injured in hospitals all but possibly two are expected to recover.

The investigations began with action by Dr. C. L. Bell, Huron County coroner, assisted by Edward Martin, county prosecutor.

REPORT IN WEEK

Representatives making the investigation for the Public Utilities Commission indicated it would be at least a week before they made a report. They revisited the scene of the crash today and then prepared to take testimony. It was expected that the coroner's report would not be made until next week.

County officials pointed out that seemingly the bus driver and the motorman of the interurban had observed the usual safety precautions. A blinding snow storm was streaking across the northern part of the state at the time of the wreck.

George Gould, of Chicago, attorney for the Greyhound Company, who came here to make an investigation for the company, sent a statement to his headquarters at Chicago holding Edward Butler, the bus driver, blameless.

COULD NOT SEE CAR

Gould said it had been established that the driver could not see more than 150 or 200 feet and that the interburban was running between 40 or 50 miles an hour on a late schedule. He said that there was no warning signal on the Lake Shore crossing and that the driver had stopped about 12 feet from the crossing and got out of the machine to look up and down the tracks.

The interurban motorman, Fred Schuyler, said he blew two whistles,

NEW COLD WAVE HERE TONIGHT

Another cold spell, with clear skies, was moving in from the Northwest today on the heels of yesterday's snow and rain. The mercury will drop to around 15 degrees tonight, the weather bureau predicted.

Low temperatures were reported over a wide area in the northern plains states this morning. The cold belt was heading this direction rapidly with the prospect that the mercury would fall gradually today despite the sunshine. The temperature dropped from 45 degrees at 2 a. m. to 33 at 8 a. m.

The storm causing snow and rain yesterday and last night drifted eastward rapidly. Much of the snow on the streets was melted during the night. With the falling temperature today many streets were covered with a coating of ice and frozen slush.

24-MILLION IN SENATE BILL HELD FOOLISH

By WILLIAM S. NEAL.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—A well-supported effort will be made in the House to kill the $24,000,000 prohibition fund added to the deficiency bill by the Senate.

House administration leaders said today they would not "stand for the foolish action of the Senate."

The measure must go to conference between the two houses before it can be finally passed. In the conference, House managers will attempt to eliminate the increase.

LA GUARDIA FIGHTS

At the same time, Representative La Guardia (Rep.), of New York, who started the rumpus early in the session in the House by demanding $250,000,000 be provided for the dry bureau on the ground that it would show that the law could not be enforced, planned to make a new effort to retain the $24,000,000 boost.

Representative Wood, of Indiana, ranking Republican on the House Appropriations Committee, declared the Senate's action would be rejected.

"It is foolishness to force the money upon the Secretary of the Treasury in charge of enforcement of the eighteenth amendment," said Wood. "More than $30,000,000 now is provided for the prohibition bureau and for the coast guard's functions in enforcing the law.

"No organization of the government can be efficiently expanded at will and the expansion provided in the amendment would disrupt the plans of the bureau."

While the amendment provided that the president would distribute the money among dry law agencies, it would have to be expended un-

OHIO BUS VICTIM, DYING, ADMITS BANK ROBBERIES

BELLEVUE, O., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Chief of Police Charles North today announced that he had possession of a dying confession of Teddy O'Browski, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who was fatally injured in yesterday's bus-interurban car crash.

O'Browski, the chief said, told a nurse at Bellevue Hospital, that he and three others held up a Detroit bank and escaped with $46,000. Two of his companions were shot and killed during the robbery, but O'Browski and the other man, whom he did not name, escaped to Flint, Mich. Later they went to an unlocated place in Connecticut, where they hid the loot when police picked up their trail.

O'Browski refused to tell the nurse what banks he had robbed, the date or where the money was hidden. He also said he participated in a San Francisco bank robbery in 1926, but gave no further details.

He made his confession late last night because he believed he would die at 6 o'clock this morning, the nurse said. He died at 5:05. He also confessed that he had been a holdup man all his life.

FOUR PROBES IN OHIO BUS CRASH

threw on his emergency brakes and reversed the current when he saw the bus on the crossing. Schuyler escaped injury by running into the passenger compartment of the car just before the crash. None of his passengers was hurt beyond minor bruises and shock.

Other investigations were in progress by the Greyhound Lines, from the Toledo office of the Company, and by the Lake Shore Electric Railway, under Harry Rimmelspach, claim agent. Rimmelspach called a hearing at his office in Sandusky today, and summoned Schuyler and Fred Thurman, conductor of the train, to testify.

STATE PROBE ON

The state's investigation was in charge of H. M. Evans, inspector of the railroad department of the Ohio Utilities Commission, assisted by L. C. Smith, chief of the commission's bus division.

The 50-ton car, traveling at a speed variously estimated at from 30 to 50 miles an hour, struck the bus in the middle, knifing the top from the body and flinging it 50 feet down the roadway. The electric car hurtled the chassis and rammed into a ditch, alighting atop the splintered wreckage with two passengers pinned beneath the trucks and the others trapped in their seats.

CAR SLOWED, REPORT

Four ambulances at Bellevue were summoned and passing motorists aided in extricating the bodies and conveying the injured to hospitals.

The dead were taken to undertaking establishments in Bellevue.

Rimmelspach, speaking for the interurban company, said Schuyler had slowed his car as he approached the crossing.

"Schuyler saw the bus stop several feet back from the crossing," he said. "He slowed down, as he always does in approaching a crossing, but since he saw the bus continue at rest he concluded it was waiting for him to pass and consequently kept on going. Schuyler said he thought the bus driver saw him coming.

"Then the bus started up when the interurban car was not more than 100 or 150 feet from the crossing. Cars usually pass that crossing at a speed of from 45 to 50 miles an hour. When Schuyler saw the bus start up, he applied his brakes, blew two whistles and threw the car into reverse, blowing several fuses. But no car weighing 50 tons could have been stopped in that space."

A South Side widow, mother of three children, was penniless today and police were searching for a man who, failing to win her hand in marriage, had apparently fled with her life savings—$9,700.

As told exclusively in the late edition of yesterday's Sun-Telegraph, Mrs. Mary Reimond, 40, who conducts a small confectionery store at 1709 Wharton street, was inveigled into withdrawing her savings from three South Side banks to invest in Sharon (Pa.) real estate.

The man who had proposed marriage to Mrs. Reimond and a second man were with her in her home. She stepped into the adjoining store to attend a customer. When she returned the $9,100 cash, $600 in Liberty bonds and the men had departed.

ing alleged they pushed the two men into the cellroom of the Center Avenue Station when they appeared to complain of Hook's actions.

BEAUTY SHOP WORKERS

The complainants are Alice B. Mullen, 266 Coltart Square, and Eleanor V. Yost, 204 Coltart Square, both operators in a Fifth avenue beauty parlor; Joseph P. Moore, proprietor of the shop, and Harry Alpern, business man of 705 Fifth avenue.

They allege in the informations that they were approaching their automobile in Wylie avenue after having suppered at a Hill restaurant, when Hook accosted them.

Hook is said to have been illmannered in his conduct. When one of the girls sought to establish his identity by getting his badge number, the complaints aver Hook pushed both the Yost girl and the two men.

PUSHED INTO CELL

Alpern and Moore then went to the Center Avenue Station to lodge a complaint against Hook. Alpern is said to have inquired for the "big chief." accommodate the Pittsburgh station.

READY FOR QUICK CHANGE

The necessary arrangements have been made in the control room, downtown, to move the equipment immediately if the Commission grants the request for a change in location.

The new control room, if the station is moved, will be three miles from the studio. The studios will remain at the present location on the roof of the Gimbel store.

A direct line contact will be maintained between the studio and the operating room, similar to that used by KDKA. The pioneer station has its Pittsburgh studios in the William Penn Hotel and the power plant, control room and the aerial in East Pittsburgh.

One of the first stations in the country to move its control room from the city to an outlying residential suburb was WBBM in Chicago. This station had trouble "getting out" while located close to steel buildings in Chicago. When the control room was moved outside the city, reception improved 50 per cent.

CITES ADVANTAGES

Allan Machesney, chief engineer at WCAE, pointed out the following advantages in the proposed new location of the WCAE control room:

The equipment will be housed in an all-concrete building, thus eliminating interference from steel structure.

There are no steel buildings within half-a-mile of the Gimbel warehouse at Twenty-first and Wharton streets, South Side.

The aerial will be 100 feet long, compared to the 75-foot aerial now in use. The design of the building will permit a cage-type aerial, which will insure better transmission.

The aerial will be 100 feet above the ground and parallel to the river, a good conductor.

Frequency noises, which are likely to creep into the transmitting apparatus when the studio is near the control room, will be entirely eliminated.

those that commit murder. Harsh is sentenced to death. It would have answered the purpose better had the young murderer been imprisoned for life. But if any murderer must be executed, it should be one whose defense proves him a constant menace to public safety.

NEBRASKA proposes to tax bank balances of $1 a year for every $100 of cash on balance. It would be collected semi-annually.

That is calculated to disturb bankers. But the law would let bankers collect the tax from the depositors. That will reassure the bankers—except that it will result in small balances.

TAXES must be raised, but they should interfere with business as little as possible. Talk to a man at his leisure, don't stop him while he's hurrying on business.

N. S. RUM RING TRIALS SET

HOUSE BALKS AT DRY FUND BOOST

der Mellon's direction, it was pointed out.

La Guardia, a wet, declared the money could be efficiently expended.

TO SHOW MELLON

"Mellon says he does not know where he could use the money, but I propose to point out to him just where it could be spent effectively," said La Guardia.

"It is only one-tenth of what should be appropriated. I proposed that $250,000,000 additional be provided to give the dry regime a chance to enforce the law, and the people would find that it can't be enforced. The director of the prohibition bureau estimated that it would take $400,000,000 to provide a complete federal system of enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead Act."

House drys generally opposed the previous effort to add more money to the budget's enforcement figure.

The manner in which Senate drys rallied to the Harris amendment to add the $24,000,000, however, may have some bearing upon the outcome of the impending clash in the House.

McBRIDE APPROVES FUND

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, issued a statement today "heartily approving" of the additional $24,000,000 appropriation voted by the Senate for prohibition enforcement.

Mr. McBride said:

"I heartily approve of the fund passed by the Senate placing it at the hands of the President to be allocated through the different departments having to do with prohibition enforcement. This can be used under a budget by the departments.

"Following the dry victories of the recent election it was a foregone conclusion that the dry Congress would give the President, who carries the load of responsibility for enforcement, what funds were necessary to aid him in the enforcement of the prohibition laws."

N. Y.-Havana Boat Run Record Made

HAVANA, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—The competition between the Cunard and Ward lines is bringing faster traveling time from New York to Havana. Ward Line officials announced that the President Roosevelt broke all records for the trip yesterday with the time of 61 hours and 18 minutes.

"Petting Bandit" Heir to Estate of $1,000,000

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—The Examiner today said that Elvin B Grainger, 26, one of two alleged "petting party bandits" held in jail here in default of $20,000 bonds each, is heir to an estate valued at nearly $1,000,000.

Grainger and Glinn Abbott, 20, both of Belvedere, Cal., were arrested January 1 and are held on 20 counts of robbery. They were identified by many of their alleged victims.

The newspaper says that the late Mrs. Harriet A. Willard, owner of an oil field south of Santa Paula, Cal., bequeathed Grainger, a nephew, a share of the estate to be held in trust until he reaches the age of 30, and that he has an income from it of $400 to $600 a month.

KILL 3 MARINES IN NICARAGUA

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Latest advices from Northern Nicaragua state that three marines of a patrol of seven which clashed with outlaws northeast of Yali in the Department of Jinotega on Monday were killed.

Those killed were Privates Everett A. Rector, of Des Moines, Ia., whose death had previously been reported; Rastus Collins, of Lyons, Ga., and George T. Oswill, of Miami, Fla.

First word of Rector's death was brought to marine headquarters by a messenger yesterday, while additional advices received today told of the deaths of the other two. Only meager details have been received of the deaths.

Steps toward declaring martial law in the northern deparements are being taken by the Nicaraguan authorities and the training of volunteers for service in the region is going on rapidly.

TRAIN KILLS 4 IN AUTO

DAYTON, O., Jan. 23.—(INS.)—Two men and two young girls were killed here today when their coupe was struck by a Big Four passenger train.

The dead are: Albert Inglenan, 25; Charles Walker, 18; Effie Powers, 21, and Ruth Somers, 18.

All were killed instantly. The accident occurred at 2 a. m. The two couples were believed to have been returning from a dance. The driver's vision is thought to have been obscured because of the overcrowded condition of the coupe.

GIRLS PLANNING CAREERS AS ARCHITECTS

Some day when Pittsburgh builds another architectural masterpiece in the form of a stately cathedral or an austere public building, the genius who conceived and executed the design therefor is likely to be a woman. Such a prediction might be considered wanton heresy by male members of the noble profession, but why should it not prove true, we ask, when there are plenty of young women in Pittsburgh today who are studying architecture?

To be exact, there are about a half dozen girl students of architecture at the Carnegie Institute of Technology. Nor are these ambitious young women mere dilletantes. One of them, who is in her fifth year at the school, is working every day in the office of Brandon Smith and Harold O. Reif, well known Pittsburgh architects. She is Miss Mary Virginia Carson.

This young miss promises to become a leading interior architect some day. Since becoming affiliated with the architects' office last month, she has already created the designs for two beautiful modern mansions, which are now being built in Pittsburgh.

"There is no reason why women should not become man's equal in the field of architecture," Miss Carson said. "Many are making good in other spheres of art. So why should architecture be an exception."

Another student of architecture at the Tech department of Fine Arts who is making good is Miss Eleanor Bupp. Her ambition is to be a designer of modern homes. She intends to become the business associate of her father, who is a Pittsburgh builder. She has already helped him in designing several of his homes.

Frances Beswarick, another student, aspires to become a landscape architect, while Marianne Dean diligently applies herself to the study of modern building architecture.

RESPONSE NATION-WIDE IN TEMPERANCE CONTEST

HEARST OFFER INDORSED BY NOTABLES

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Tremendous nation-wide interest in the offer of William Randolph Hearst of a $25,000 prize for the best plan as a substitute for prohibition which will achieve real temperance in the United States is further indicated by the receipt of thousands of additional letters from every corner of the land.

Deep study of the fundamentals of the problem was reflected in communications from widely separated points between the Atlantic and the Pacific and the Great Lakes and the Gulf regions. Some came from remote Western ranches so far from a postoffice that it meant a day's ride on horseback to mail a letter.

Prospective entrants for the $25,000 prize are advised to study the purposes of the contest and to read the seven simple rules of the contest republished in an adjoining column.

The Hearst newspapers desire their millions of readers to understand that the contest represents an earnest effort in behalf of real temperance. The contest has no connection whatever with any partisan organization.

Following are expressions of opinions on the contest:

George U. Harvey

George U. Harvey, new borough president for Queens, New York City:

"I think it is a very good idea for Mr. Hearst to offer a $25,000 prize for a true temperance plan. All good citizens, whether they favor prohibition or not, surely believe in temperance. We should be temperate in everything. After reading Mr. Hearst's offer I feel that I can say that the Hearst prize will stimulate people to try to solve the prohibition question. That is why I am in favor of it. All good citizens should try to do their share to help solve the various problems that confront the government in the nation, state and the city."

Grayson M. P. Murphy

Col. Grayson M. P. Murphy, famous financier, head of Grayson M. P. Murphy & Co., former partner of J. P. Morgan & Co.:

"I feel that in offering a prize of $25,000 for the best plan to achieve real temperance, Mr. Hearst has done a fine, courageous thing, and I am glad that he has decided to use his powerful influence to awaken the American people to the shameful and dangerous conditions which have resulted from the present law."

Nathaniel A. Elsberg

Nathaniel A. Elsberg, former New York state senator and delegate to the New York State Constitutional convention:

"Mr. Hearst's prize offer has already excited great interest. I have read his telegram on the subject with the keenest attention. He has stated admirably and with the utmost conservatism, which lends force to a picture of conditions which no candid observer can question, the evil results of 10 years of prohibition.

"Any prize offered for a plan that will promote real temperance and respect for law, while at the same time preserving our free institutions, is an excellent thing."

Dr. W. N. Guthrie

The Rev. Dr. William Norman Guthrie, pastor of St. Mark's-in-the Bowerie Episcopal Church, New York:

"It is the sort of law that is produced through fanaticism. However sincere the makers may have been, they simply lack knowledge and understanding of the country and its people.

"The Eighteenth amendment is here to stay and we might as well make up our minds to that. Instead, let's go after the Volstead act—there's where the shoe pinches. The framers of that act interpreted the word 'liquor' without consulting a dictionary.

"The word 'liquor' is solely an abbreviation for 'distilled liquor,' and was never intended to include wines and beer. Yet the Volstead act, foisted on the nation during a period of war time excitement, carries that misinterpretation.

"The case is somewhat parallel to the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments, which can never be enforced in the South. The Negroes don't want a colored community any more than the whites do. So methods of compromise are found and points are stretched here and there by those who live in the South and understand the race question as no one else can. They realize that an attempt to repeal the amendment would be futile.

"Just so in the case of the Eighteenth amendment. The present enforcement act will never produce sobriety. Let's drag the Volstead act into the open and change it into something workable."

Louis A. Cuvillier

State Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier of New York:

"The announcement of the prize of $25,000 for a modification plan is a great move on the part of Mr. Hearst. I believe he is going about the thing in the right way. For too many years we have been concerned with enforcement and there has been nothing done Now is the time for a trial in the other direction.

"And there are ways in which modification can be effected, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding. For one thing — and something I've been fighting for—it is possible to call a national constitutional convention to consider the question.

"There has never been any real concentrated discussion by the men who control the wishes of the people of the United States. Such a convention would supply the place and time for such a discussion.

"The public is laboring under the misapprehension that the law is a constitutional one, and is, therefore, not to be tampered with. This is ridiculous for more reasons than one. In the first place, the law has proved itself to be unenforceable. In the second place, if it is wrong it can be changed.

"We are interested in the freedom of the American people. I do not care about liquor, but I do care for freedom, and it is evident that there are millions of other citizens of this country who feel the same way as I do about prohibition."

7 Rules of $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

3—This contest will close on April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Teelgraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

FIGHT ON GAS TAX RAISE LOOMS IN LEGISLATURE

ROAD FIGURES IN BUDGET ASSAILED

By W. I. GRUNDISH,
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 23.—It is generally understood among the members of the Legislature that the emergency tax of one cent a gallon on gasoline, which expires this year and which brings the total tax to three cents, will be continued for another two years.

This was the opinion expressed today by Representative C. J. Goodnough, of Emporium, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. Goodnough declined to discuss intimations that an effort would be made to increase the total tax to four cents to provide additional highway revenue.

"I have not heard any members discuss that," he said, adding that non-members had discussed the proposal with him.

MORE FUNDS REQUIRED

He pointed out that more money was needed for township rewards, a proposition in which every rural member is interested, just as the city members are interested in the proposition to have the state return part of the motor license fees to the municipalities.

The latter proposal, according to Gov. Fisher's statement in his budget message, cannot become a reality unless more funds are provided.

An additional cent a gallon on gasoline, he said in an interview, would provide all the funds necessary to enable the state to take over the maintenance of city streets over which state highways run and all bridges on the road system, although at the same time he made it very plain that the revenue-raising problem was one for the Legislature to decide.

"I am sure the members can find some way to secure what additional revenue they need," he said.

FIGURES CALLED INACCURATE

In view of the manner in which the $23,000,000 surplus has been advertised, talk of an increased gasoline tax came as a shock to those who had hoped to see a reduction in that levy, at least, to the extent of permitting the emergency tax to expire.

Just where the surplus is placed will require a close scrutiny of the more than 500 pages composing the budget, although a sizable portion of it is devoted to projects for which bond issues were asked and defeated. Claims that the highway figures in the budget are not accurate, do not reveal the healthy financial state of that department, and that the estimated revenues do not take into account the expected increase, were heard today as enemies of the gasoline levy prepared to fight any additional tax.

Complicating the situation is the drive to have the tax on anthracite coal repealed. As drawn, the budget includes that levy and the three-cent gasoline tax. Opponents of the anthracite levy suggest that it be dropped and a tax placed on the capital stock of manufacturing corporations. It is not beyond the bounds of reason to look forward to a combination of the two forces with a drive for a tax on manufacturers and a repeal of the other levies. If that should happen, the Legislature will see a real battle, as Joseph R. Grundy and his colleagues will bitterly oppose any suggestion of a manufacturers tax.

HOOVER RESTS IN SECLUSION

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
International News Service.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 23.—Herbert Hoover went into seclusion today.

On Belle Isle, in the middle of Biscayne Bay, the President-elect turned his back on allengagements, denied himself to all visitors, and settled down to a month's relaxation and contemplation of the problems that will be his after the fourth of March next. He plans to do a lot of fishing, but not even this activity could entice him today away from the luxurious lodge that is to be his home for the next four weeks.

Mr. Hoover's pre-inaugural retreat is ideally situated for quiet and solitude. The Penny estate has but one entrance, and that is guarded by secret service operatives and Florida state police. All around are the blue waters of the bay. The island is reached only by a causeway.

Mr. Hoover was greatly pleased by his welcome to Florida, which outdid even the elaborate reception given to President Coolidge on his fleeting visit of last year. Upwards of 50,000 persons lined the streets and the causeway yesterday when Mr. Hoover arrived, following what amounted almost to a triumphal tour down the east coast.

RAIDER'S LIFE THREATENED

A threat of death has been received by Capt. Nuncie Marino, of the Frankstown Avenue Police Station, warning him to leave the district or face death.

Fifteen days' grace are given the officer, who is in charge of the district at night.

"You have been making it too tough for us here. You will have to get out of East Liberty within 15 days or you will die," the threat read.

Capt. Marino, with Lieut Albert Good, his aide at night, have been active in raiding bootleggers in the Homewood district within the last few months. Many raids are made each week and the prisoners either fined or held for court.

Marino said he believed he knows the writer, a man who had been raided several times recently.

Marino has received two other threatening letters since he has been a police officer.

Two years ago while working among foreigners in the Hill District he was ordered to stop his activities.

USES FRENCH LAW TO KIDNAP TWO CHILDREN

PARIS, Jan. 23.—(INS.)—The French law was invoked today by counsel for Frank Woodward, of Rochester, N. Y., in defense of Woodward's seizure of his two children, Frank, Jr., and Ruth.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodward are estranged. It is understood that the former has filed or is about to file a divorce action in New York State.

Mr. Woodward and the two children were still missing today. A police search is being made for them.

The "kidnaping" took place yesterday just as the children were about to enter a private school. A limousine with five men—one of them Woodward—was waiting outside. The children were seized and carried off despite the interference of one of the teachers, who was injured in the struggle.

"We stand upon Article 373 of the French code under which 'the father alone exercises authority over his children during marriage,'" Leslie Naftzger, counsel for Woodward, told International News Service.

NOT SEEKING DIVORCE

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(INS.)—Dudley Field Malone, attorney for Mrs. Frank Woodward, today denied that Woodward's kidnaping of his two children, Frank, Jr., and Ruth in Paris, resulted from a contemplated divorce action on the part of his client. She is not seeking a divorce, Malone said.

FOUR RUNAWAY GIRLS FOUND

Policewomen probably will be sent to Harrisburg today to return four Peabody High School girl students who were taken into custody there last night, having run away from their homes in the East End Friday. Stranded without money and hungry, the four girls revealed their identity to a Harrisburg policeman last night.

The girls—Mildred Sharsky, 15, South Negley avenue; Alice Coleman, 17, Princeton place; Estelle Hartnett, Browns place, and Irene Thomas, Gross street, left their homes here Friday and spent Friday night in Greensburg. They were seen in Altoona on Saturday by an acquaintance, who reported the incident to police after he found they were runaways.

Last night the four girls approached Patrolman McCarthy in Harrisburg and told him they were penniless. Quarters in the matron's department were given them and Pittsburgh authorities were notified. The girls told Harrisburg police they reached there yesterday and then went to Elizabethtown in search of employment in a chocolate factory. Failing to locate jobs, they returned to Harrisburg.

Northcott, Confined To Hospital, Grieves

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Apparently suffering from an attack of melancholia in addition to his physical ills, Gordon Stewart Northcott, accused slayer of three boys, spent a restless night in the detention ward of the Riverside County Hospital last night.

The young Canadian, who for more than a week has been attempting to act as his own attorney in his trial, was granted a continuance yesterday until tomorrow, after Dr. H. L. Ratliff had testified that Northcott was suffering from laryngitis and conjunctivitis.

Little Damage Done By Quakes in Alaska

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Slight quakes felt here yesterday at increasing intervals apparently signified final placing of some gigantic subterranean fault which caused Monday's severe temblors. Geologists familiar with the country about Fairbanks forecast recurrences even more severe until the cycle had been completed.

Virtually no damage was done by the severe temblors which terrorized residents of Fairbanks and other central Alaskan towns.

Dean Scarlett Named Pa. Bishop-Coadjutor

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—By a large majority of the clergy and laity, the Rev. Dr. William Scarlett, dean of Christ Church Cathedral, St. Louis, was elected bishop-coadjutor of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania yesterday.

Dean Scarlett is the fourth clergyman to be elected within nine months, the other three having declined, but it was strongly intimated he would accept.

RUNAWAYS FOUND

MILDRED SHARSKY — ESTELLE HARTNETT

These four girls, all of the East End and three of whom are Peabody High School students, have been found in Harrisburg. They have been missing since last Friday.

"JUST KIDS" AT HOSPITAL

Conventional names were discarded among young patients in the Children's Hospital today. Everybody was "Fatso" or "Mush" or "Peanut" or "Pat" or even Officer Branner. For the residents of the Oakland institution had been entertained by Ad Carter and his living characters, the Carter who draws "Just Kids" for the Sun-Telegraph every day, and the actors of those characters who are at Loew's Penn this week.

The entertainment was under the auspices of the Sun-Telegraph.

The young actors who entertained the patients were Anna Chang, as "Pat Finnegan;" Al Gale as "Mush;" Marietta Sullivan as "Peanut;" Cecil Blair as "Marjory Jones;" Bob O'Connor as "Officer Branner" and Charles Rosella as the street-cleaner.

Besides Carter and his company, there was Dick Leibert, Penn Theater organist, with a portable organ, who played and tune the convalescent youngsters requested.

ASSEMBLY FOR HIGHER TARIFF

HARRISBURG, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Pennsylvania's General Assembly has added its voice to the clamor for an extra session of Congress for the upward revision of the tariff.

A resolution was rushed through both branches of the Legislature and immediately forwarded to President-elect Hoover, urging the earliest possible revision "to the end that adequate protection be given to every American product, of farm and factory alike."

The Legislature's action follows similar agitation on the part of Pennsylvania's delegation in Congress and is in line with the campaign being carried on by the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association, of which Joseph R. Grundy, of Bristol, is president. The resolution, which was drafted in the offices of Gov. Fisher, in its preamble emphasized the interest of agriculture in upward revision of the tariff. It was introduced by Representative E. P. Brown, of Susquehanna, a rural representative on the executive committee of the Republican State Committee.

"HONEST, mister, will she go a hundred and sixteen miles an hour?"

"Gosh ma, look at this swell boat, will ya? Sit in it once, go on. Gee, you look swell in it; maybe some day we'll buy one like it."

"What did you say, mister? It costs twelve thousand dollars and ya got to pay five thousand dollars with the order? Thanks. Naw, we don't wanta buy any today."

Yesterday Joe O'Malley introduced a new 265 horsepower Duesenberg convertible roadster to the crowds at Pittsburgh's 1929 Automobile Show. Today Joe is smiling, and if you want to know why, visit the show and notice the crowds that are thronging about his display.

If a car can be described as "ritzy," then this Duesenberg is "RITZY." Joe and his staff are kept so busy answering questions about the Duesenberg that they are having a difficult time describing features of the Auburn line for those individuals living in the world of today.

Scores crowd about the Duesenberg every minute and thrill at the sight of the huge straight-eight motor. But speaking of thrills, have you played that new game out at the auto show? It is a question and answer game. And as Mr. L. Rogers explained to Mrs. Mary Rogers yesterday, "Mary, this is so easy it is almost a shame to take the money. But, it sure will come in handy when we buy them four new tires."

HOW TO PLAY IN THE CONTEST

A GREAT many of the exhibitors on the sub-floor are displaying a sign asking a question. When you enter the sub-floor a girl at the foot of the ramp hands you a blank. All that remains to be done is to approach the attendants at the booths displaying the questions, ask the answer and write it down. For this you get $50, or most any sum ranging down to $5, depending upon how correctly you write down the answer given you and how neatly you do it. Here's a tip: Don't overlook any questions. And above all, don't forget to leave the answers, with your name and address, with the girl at the foot of the ramp.

But to get back to Joe O'Malley. He is the president of the Pittsburgh-Auburn Company, one of the most widely known and best liked of executives along Auto Row. His exhibit includes all the models of the Auburn line of six and eight cylindered cars. The Duesenberg is the design of Fred S. Duesenberg, famous race car builder, and in every part and detail is marked by individual and typical of the Duesenberg trend of engineering. Innovation after innovation is presented. Picture yourself driving up to a church, turning to your bride-to-be and saying: "Honey, we are just 1,936 feet above sea level." The altimeter on this car gives you an idea of the completeness of its equipment.

STOCK CARS HOLD RECORDS

COL. F. L. DENNIS (he is very much a real colonel) also has some fast cars on display at the show. These cars hold many stock car records for runs against time, records that have been recognized by organized motordom throughout the world. These cars are the Studebaker models and those in the Garden are of the eight and six cylinder variety. The featured exhibit here is a sport sedan that is finished in a tan and green.

FOUR-SPEED CARS TALK OF SHOW

THE three Graham brothers, who have much to do with making the automobile the elastic transportation medium it is today, this year have provided E. S. Carpenter with a new line of cars for the show. Last year when the Graham-Paige line made its debut, introducing a new style, it was the talk of the show. The cars of that line are being talked about just as much this year as they were last. Graham-Paige is one of the leading four-speed transmission cars and Mr. Carpenter is showing a motion picture of the transmission at the show. In addition he has five models on display, including a roadster in blue and a sport coupe in tan.

NEW STYLE CARS EXHIBITED

R. E. LOUGHNEY, who distributes Reo and Wolverine in this district, has in his exhibit five cars that are new in their styling. They are the Master and Mate models of that line. The Mate models have the new sea wave effect, with a two-tone finish carrying out the lines of the fenders on the side of the radiator hood. All these models are finished in a variety of shades.

Oldsmobile is another car that is attracting considerable attention at the show. The display was planned by C. L. Day, who is manager of the Oldsmobile Pittsburgh Company, and includes a show chassis, the various parts cut away to reveal the working mechanism. This chassis best explains the progress that has been made by Oldsmobile in this district during the last year. The display also is in a variety of colors.

HONORED AT EAST LIBERTY LUNCHEON

WHEN the members of the East Liberty Chamber of Commerce honored the automobile men of the city yesterday at their luncheon, J. E. Lowe, who handles the Lincoln line and officiates as the treasurer of the Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers' Association, spoke.

Mr. Lowe touched on the extent of the automobile business, saying that during the last year more than 4,500,000 automobiles had been sold for more than $2,000,000,000, and that America still consumed 78 per cent of the world's production of automobiles.

He also told of the efforts made by the dealers to protect the motorists and business men against unfair taxes and laws. One of the laws sponsored by them, he said, was the title law. At the present time they are attempting to prevent the enactment of a compulsory insurance law, which, he said, would automatically cause an increase in insurance rates because of a much greater percentage of increase in the number of claims.

AFTERNOON BEST TIME TO SEE CARS

THE show will continue tonight, and from 1 to 11 p. m., Thursday, Friday and Saturday. And once again this tip: The best time to see the cars to best advantage is in the afternoon; the earlier the better.

MEDICAL HELP RADIOED 1,700 MILES INTO ARCTIC

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Medical instructions flashed by wireless 1,700 miles into the Arctic enabled G. Hudson, radio operator at Hope's Advance in Hudson Strait, to treat an injured trapperr and start him on the road to recovery, the Department of Marine has been advised.

The story was told in a series of cryptic messages from Hudson, located at a range finding station in the North, and the short wave station of the Department of Marine in Ottawa.

Preceding his first message by "rush medico," Hudson said that H. H. Hall, a fur trader, suffering from an elbow injury, had reached Hope's Advance from Diana Bay by dog sled. First aid had been applied, and Hudson asked that a diagnosis and instructions for further treatment be rushed back.

Within 50 minutes, F. Woodrow, of the Trail Radio Station, had obtained the required help from Dr. J. J. Hagerty, of the Department of Health. In the lonely station in the North, Hudson lanced a contusion and set the arm in splints. His latest messages indicate his patient is progressing satisfactorily.

TODAY—MORE EMPHATICALLY THAN EVER BEFORE—CADILLAC-LA SALLE ARE REVEALED TO BE THE ONLY QUALITY STANDARDS FOR THE COMPARISON OF MOTOR CARS

It is inevitable that your visit to the Automobile Show should clearly disclose the two cars occupying the highest quality position. The Cadillac Motor Car Company would feel that it had failed of its trust—failed to justify its position of supremacy—were Cadillac and La Salle not immediately conceded this obvious distinction. But they are. And that they are the highest quality motor-cars in the world is actually and literally true—so true that it needs no proof. Your own eyes see it. Your own critical judgment experiences it the moment you step into Cadillac or La Salle from some car aspiring to place itself in the same class.

CONSIDER, for a moment, the matter of safety alone. See if you can find, at the Show, any other cars so adequately designed to meet 1929 traffic conditions.

A gear-shift that has been deliberately planned for your protection in congested traffic and for sharp hilly inclines and declines along country roads . . . The Cadillac-La Salle Syncro-Mesh Silent-Shift Transmission permits instantaneous shifting of gears—at a finger touch—without pausing in neutral—and without the slightest suggestion of clashing.

The Cadillac-La Salle Duplex-Mechanical System of Four-Wheel Brakes is the most costly, scientific, efficient and dependable braking system ever developed. These brakes are amazingly powerful and positive in action yet instantly responsive to the slightest touch of the foot on the brake pedal.

Cadillac-La Salle Security-Plate Glass is one of the most modern provisions for your safety. In the doors, windows and windshields of the new Cadillacs and La Salles no other glass is used. And it is exclusive with Cadillac and La Salle. It remains intact if broken, so that you may forever dismiss from your mind the fear of being injured by flying glass fragments.

You know full well there are no smarter, no more luxurious cars on the road than Cadillac and La Salle. Now step into one of these cars and drive it. You will immediately conclude that if you want a car to ride and drive as Cadillac and La Salle ride and drive you must eliminate everything else from consideration. Any Cadillac-La Salle dealer will gladly place a Cadillac or La Salle at your disposal. Just telephone.

WOMAN NAMED IN OKLAHOMA STATE PROBE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Investigations involving the name of Mrs. O. O. Hammonds, confidential secretary to Henry S. Johnston, suspended governor; the State Highway Department, other branches of state government, and elusive rumors regarding $100,000 said to have played a part in the abrupt dispersal, last winter, of attempted impeachment activities, today were rivals for the inquisitorial spotlight of the Twelfth Oklahoma Legislature.

Consideration of additional impeachment charges against Gov. Johnston by the House of Representatives, also was a possibility, as the voting of a sixth charge, shortly before adjournment late yesterday, cleared the path for discussion of another of the four remaining charges placed before the House by its investigating committee and awaiting action.

L. K. Ford, mechanical engineer, testifying before the House investigating committee, declared he saw an envelope containing money passed to Mrs. Hammonds by a woman who was charged with negotiating for the aid of her purported influence with the administration.

Guatemala Executes Rebellion Leaders

GUATEMALA CITY, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Various leaders of the revolt in Northern Guatemala have been summarily executed by government forces. The number of those who were captured by loyal troops and faced the firing squad was not announced. The government stated that the uprising had been totally suppressed.

Statler Death Ends Boat Disaster Suits

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Federal Judge Knox ruled yesterday that the $400,000 damage actions which followed the sinking of the late E. M. Statler's houseboat, Miramar, in Southern waters two years ago, with the loss of her crew of 12, had been abated by the death of the magnate.

The suits were brought on behalf of dependent relatives of the Miramar's crew and the decision means that they can collect nothing.

KLINE REFUSES 4TH AVENUE PARKING PLEA

Council will grant a hearing late today to Fourth avenue bankers who are fighting the edict prohibiting automobiles from parking on that thoroughfare any time during the day.

Mayor Kline issued a statement in reply to the bankers' and business men's complaint in which he stated the ban is not a new one, but merely the enforcement of ordinances passed in 1925, 1926 and 1927. He said the administration had been lenient with these ordinances and as a consequence they were abused. Parking in Fourth avenue—"the narrowest street in Pittsburgh"—constituted a traffic menace, he stated.

The bankers, reinforced by prominent business men of the city, complained that the new police ruling against parking even for a few minutes in Pittsburgh's "Wall Street" is working a hardship on business houses and banks alike. They said large depositors are not permitted to park long enough to transact business and in many cases the deposits are so bulky motor transportation is a necessity.

The decision to lay the matter before Council was reached at a meeting yesterday afternoon in the office of L. W. Smith, president of the Union National Bank. Executives of practically all the banks in Fourth avenue have joined in the protest and, according to plans, will visit Council in a body.

It is planned to ask Council to permit parking for 10 or 15 minutes on one side of the street.

City to Pay $23,500 For Property Damage

Council has concurred in recommendations from City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt for payment of $23,500 to settle claims for property damages arising from street improvements.

Awards included: Joseph Woodwell & Co., $10,000, in the widening of Second avenue from Grant street to Liberty avenue; Tabernacle Presbyterian Church, $7,500, in the widening of Baum boulevard; John A. Zimmerman, $6,000, in the widening of Ensign street.

Decree Dissolves Union Barge Line

The Union Barge Line, organized about five years ago, was dissolved by decree in Common Pleas Court yesterday, Judge Harry H. Rowand signing the order. President Charles T. Campbell and Secretary Joseph H. Gilmore told the court that the stockholders had voted December 10 to dissolve. They said the company had no debts and that its taxes were paid. The headquarters had been at 807 Wabash Building.

Life of Fokker Saved as Fire Perils Plane

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 23.—Heroic work on the part of an employe of the Fokker Aircraft Corporation plant of America saved the lives of Anthony H. G. Fokker, noted airplane designer and engineer and Capt. Grissom G. Haynes, famous pilot, and prevented destruction of the Fokker monoplane by fire.

Fokker and Haynes had just taken the second ship turned out at the Glendale plant for a test flight and when it landed, a workman with a torch set fire to the tail of the ship.

QUICK CRUISER BILL VOTE EXPECTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Friends of the Cruiser bill are expecting it to make a quick run toward a final vote, once the Deficiency Appropriation bill is out of the way.

The Deficiency bill, with an anchor that has held it fast, the proposed increase in prohibition enforcement funds, raised, shows signs of casting loose from its moorings after the settlement of the controversy over tax funds. Senate leaders plan then to keep the proposed measure, which would call for the construction of 15 cruisers and one aircraft carrier, up until disposition is made of it.

Proponents of the Cruiser bill have been fearful that the extended argument over appropriation bills and other matters that arose from time to time have been in reality a filibuster aimed at the warcraft program. Opponents, however, have denied that any filibuster was in progress or intended. Senator Norris, of Nebraska, Independant leader, having said that he opposed such a method of fighting the bill.

Chairman Hale, of the Senate Naval Committee, one of the sponsors of the Cruiser bill, believes that it will be passed handily when the final vote comes. The opposition is expected to attempt to obtain some modification of its provisions. They want the authorization for 15 cruisers reduced to 10 or five ships and they also favor President Coolidge's proposal that the time limit requiring the construction of the cruisers within three years be removed.

President Coolidge has let it be known that he wants the bill passed but its chief proponents are opposed to the suggestion that the time limit be removed.

Egypt Signs Kellogg Anti-War Document

Adoption of Church Rum Spy Plan Denied

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—The executive committee of the Rhode Island Anti-Saloon League has issued a denial of published reports that the annual union Rhode Island ministers' citizenship meeting, conducted here last week under the auspices of the league, adopted a plan to make every Protestant Church member in the state an active informer in the governmental prohibition enforcement system.

THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH NEWSBOYS IN WILMERDING

SUN-TELEGRAPH NEWSIES IN WILMERDING HAPPY

You will find no sorrow-beaten faces among the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph newsboys in Wilmerding. They deliver and sell the Sun-Telegraph alone, of the Pittsburgh evening and Sunday papers.

The youngsters are served by the Wilmerding News Agency, 309 Station street, of which Jack Seigle is manager. Eleven boys are attached to the agency. Recently attempts were made to persuade them to discontinue handling the Sun-Telegraph and to sell another paper instead. They were not in the least interested in the proposition and remained steadfast to the Sun-Telegraph and Seigle.

Seigle takes pride in the way in which his boys have advanced in the world. He calls attention to the case of John Polojac as an example of what Sun-Telegraph boys can do. Polojac entered Waynesburg College not long ago, taking with him $450, which he had saved in four years by selling papers.

Delivering and selling papers after school, the Wilmerding lads make as much as $11 or $12 a week. The average is $4 or $5 a week.

Three boys in a group at the Wilmerding agency were questioned as to their earnings.

Joseph Badger, 15, of 418 Watkins avenue, said he usually made $10 and had made as much as $15 a week.

Stanley Slonczka, 13, of 213 Card avenue, a seventh grade pupil in the St. Leocadia Parish School, said he averaged $5.75 a week, which he turned over to his mother.

Walter Slonczka, 14, of 215 Card avenue, an eighth grade pupil in the St. Leocadia School, averages $6 a week, which he also turns over to his mother. He buys his own clothes and has spending money, besides.

Practically all the Sun-Telegraph boys in Wilmerding have bank savings accounts.

W.-J. Head Backs Marriage Ban As Study Aid

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 23.—Addressing Washington and Jefferson College students in a body here when school re-opened yesterday after a six weeks' recess, President S. S. Baker, for the first time discussed the recent edict which bans marriage on the part of students enrolled in the school.

"The action was taken after a survey which shows that it is the belief of many leading educators, that marriage is not conducive to proper application to studies," he said.

AUTOIST TWICE MISSES DEATH

Death missed Christopher Rynd, 34, Gibsonia, Pa., twice this morning.

Rynd's automobile plunged over a high embankment on Washington boulevard and dropped 25 feet to the tracks of the Allegheny Valley division of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Brilliant cutoff in front of a shifting engine.

The engine was stopped 50 feet away from the wreck beneath which Rynd was pinned. The crew extricated Rynd and sent him to the West Penn Hospital where it was stated his condition is serious.

Rynd was driving east fn the boulevard when his car skidded on the icy surface, jumped the curbing, ran about 30 feet and hurtled over the embankment. In its wild drop it turned over several times.

Two Hurt as Plane Falls Near Warren

WARREN, Pa., Jan. 23.—(A.P.)—Frank Kohler, Leroy, N. Y., oilman, and Roy Dubal, Leroy airplane pilot, were injured near here when their plane was wrecked in a forced landing yesterday.

They were flying from Leroy to Bradford, Pa., in a ship owned by Howard Green, Bradford refiner.

ATTORNEY FEE OFFERED FOR CREDITORS

The creditors of the bankrupt estate of Josiah V. Thompson, former multi-millionaire coal operator of Uniontown, Pa., will have an unexpected $38,000 to divide, if the Federal Court accepts the money offered today by Attorney A. Leo Weil, counsel for the Thompson trustees.

The money was paid to lawyers for professional services in unraveling the confused affairs of Thompson, but there was a dispute between Attorney Weil and Attorney Samuel Untermyer, prominent New York lawyer, over payment.

Untermyer, counsel for the creditors' committee, contended that he was entitled to 40 per cent of the fees allowed the firm of Weil and Thorp, attorneys for trustees, but a decision he won in a lower court was reversed by the United States Supreme Court.

In presenting the offer Attorney Weil said that he had always denied ever making such a contract with Untermyer and has contended such a contract would be illegal and a fraud on the bankruptcy court. The United States Supreme Court sustained Weil's contention as to the illegality of such a contract. Although Weil says he is not in any way morally or legally bound to turn back the $38,000, he is doing it in order to show he was fighting for a principle rather than the money involved in the disputed fee.

'98 WAR VETS PLAN BANQUET

"FLU"

Starts as a COLD!

Every case of flu is first a cold! Therefore, the way to prevent flu is to stop a cold in time! Any cold can, and should be stopped in 24 hours. Letting it go beyond that time is inviting danger!

Stopping a cold in one day requires four things:

1. Check the Cold Germs
2. Allay the fever
3. Open the bowels
4. Tone the System

There's one thing that does all four at once. That's Hill's Cascara-Bromide-Quinine. Each Hill's tablet combines the four necessary helps. Thus Hill's is a complete remedy for a cold. Thus it ends a cold in one day. That's why Hill's should be your first thought at the sign of a cold.

DON'T CATCH THE FLU!

Break a Cold the First Day

Any doctor or nurse will tell you that if you break a cold the first day you are unlikely to contract pneumonia or influenza. So don't let a cold hang on. At the first cough or symptom of a cold or sore throat start with Turpo and break it right up. Rubbed on the chest or throat Turpo relieves congestion, loosens phlegm. Instantly you will feel the improvement.

As a preventive against flu, snuff a little Turpo up each nostril several times a day and flu germs will have little chance of getting a lodging or breeding place.

Turpo is an effective antiseptic combining the old-fashioned remedies of turpentine, camphor and menthol. Any doctor or trained nurse will tell you that these ingredients have long been recognized as effective antiseptics as well as having really wonderful qualities in relieving colds or congestions. Turpo costs only 35 cents at any drug store.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel, made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

MINERS CHARGE OPERATORS HIDE ISSUE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—(AP.) Counsel for the United Mine Workers, appearing before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, asserted yesterday that opposition of coal operators to the bill designed to regulate the bituminous industry was attributable to their desire to block legislation making collective bargaining possible.

Argument was offered in behalf of the labor organization by Henry Warrum, its counsel, who declared that the objection of unconstitutionality brought forward by attorneys for the National Coal Association was merely a smoke screen for more serious, but less apparent objections.

Warrum declared that the measure, in giving the right to corporations to combine, did just what the corporations had been trying to do for years, but had been prevented from doing by the anti-trust laws. Therefore, he added, the reasons for the objections must go deeper, and he charged that they had to do with the so-called "yellow dog" contract and collective bargaining.

The measure would abrogate this contract, under which employes agree not to join labor organizations, and also would set up machinery for collective bargaining whenever disputes arise between employe and employer.

Warrum contended that coal was a product of interstate commerce, a feature which has been denied repeatedly by coal operators. He said that inasmuch as coal was a product of interstate commerce, its production and sale could be regulated only by the government.

Bulgaria Forces Beggars to Work

SOFIA.—Bulgaria has achieved the distinction of being the only country in Europe without beggars. The house of representatives passed a law declaring mendicancy illegal, and the police arrested 10,000 beggars within a week. Mendicancy increased rapidly after the war, when demobilized troops could find no employment. The government is making use of empty barracks for the purpose of teaching the beggars to earn a living.

LINDY WILL AID KELLY'S AIR MAIL BILL

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Representative M. Clyde Kelly, of Pittsburgh, has succeeded in having Col. Charles A. Lindbergh consent to appear before the House Postal Committee next Monday, when hearings are opened on the New Kelly bill, designed to perfect existing foreign air mail legislation.

Col. Lindbergh is slated to pilot the first air mail plane over the new route from Miami to Panama when the service is inaugurated February 4. He will follow the same circle route which he blazed on his return from the Mexican and Central American good will flight a year ago.

Representative Kelly, father of the American air mail system, is the author of the present foreign air mail legislation, but certain technical obstacles raised by the comptroller general necessitated a revised bill.

President-elect Hoover is said to have urged the Pittsburgh Congressman to introduce the measure in the interest of further expansion of air mail relations between the United States and South America.

A Difference that cannot be measured in Dollars

SOMEBODY suggests this simple test for automobile buyers. Write down the price of a New Pontiac Big Six. Now write below it the price of any lower-priced car you can think of. Subtract. Lo and behold! Only a few dollars difference! But what a difference there is in the cars—and it cannot be measured in dollars!

It's true, of course, that in the New Pontiac Big Six you get greater overall length, a bigger engine, the superiorities in styling, finish and safety that only Fisher bodies provide, and such fine car advantages as dirt-and-weather-proof internal four-wheel brakes. Those are features which can be measured in money. But the real difference is even more important than that.

It's really a matter of progress. When you're getting on in the world, you want finer things. You pass the point of getting along on just anything handy—any home, any furniture, any automobile. And that's where the Pontiac Big Six fits in.

It's a brand new car—one you can be really proud of without any great drain on your purse. It offers big car performance resulting from its big, new L-head engine, its accurately balanced rotating parts, Hotchkiss drive and its many other mechanical advancements. It offers the luxury, comfort, style and masterly construction provided in stunning new bodies by Fisher. Its top-speed lets you laugh at the limousines. Its acceleration sends you snapping away from the crowd.

Yes, you could always get that in an automobile. But never before at Pontiac's price. That's why the Pontiac Big Six is creating such a furore! There are a lot of progressive Americans who have always wanted to step up to a car like this. And now that it's here, they're telling the world about it!

Prices $745 and up, f. o. b. factory, plus delivery charges. Bumpers and rear fender guards regular equipment at slight extra cost. Check Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices—they include lowest handling charges. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

CITY MAY BAN DOWNTOWN SIGNBOARD

Council has asked City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt for an opinion as to whether J. I. Simon is within legal rights in erecting a small building topped with a sign board on his property, formerly occupied by the city scales, in the triangle bounded by Fifth avenue Sixth avenue and Ross street.

The plot contains about 143 square feet, with a frontage of 16 feet on Fifth avenue, 14 feet on Ross street and seven feet on Sixth avenue.

Simon offered to sell the land to the city for $17,000, based on its value as a rent-producer with the building, with advertising signboards on the roof.

Members of Council have indicated that in event the building of the structure is legal, it would be advantageous to prevent such a course by authorizing the city to buy the site.

Discussion of the proposal developed that a building four feet by 16 feet was legally built on a triangular plot at Braddock avenue and Susquehanna street.

PADLOCK CHIEF CLAIMS STATE ENFORCEMENT GAIN

"Marked advance has been made along the lines of law enforcement and ground work has been laid that gives promises of greater advancement in the future," Special Deputy Attorney General R. M. Ewing, padlock injunction specialist for the state and also counsel for the Alcoholic Permit Board in Western Pennsylvania, has informed Attorney General Thomas J. Baldridge.

In reports just filed, Maj. Ewing details how 90 padlock cases against night clubs and saloons have been won by the government; how 50 inherited incomplete cases in Western Pennsylvania have been completed and injunctions issued, and how the Alcohol Permit Board, by unity of action, has made available the entire federal prohibition force in enforcing the state prohibition laws.

Two years ago the board granted 191 permits, and last year 129. But six permits were revoked two years ago and last year 15 revocation cases were brought. Eight permits were revoked and the remaining cases are pending.

In one case, that of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company, the permit was renewed and the proceedings dismissed. The cases against the Home Beverage Company, Braddock, and the Monongahela Beverage Company, Monongahela, are still pending. The balance of the cases are in the eastern part of the state.

SORE THROAT

Gargle with Listerine

kills germs in 15 seconds

WHEN your feet are wet, and after exposure to germs in crowded cars and stuffy offices, gargle with Listerine full strength.

Thus you immediately attack the germs that cause sore throat, and its usual sequel, a cold, and often prevent either from becoming serious.

Listerine, full strength, kills even the B. Typhosus (typhoid) germ in 15 seconds as shown by repeated tests. This is the germ the Government uses to test the power of antiseptics. Though powerful, Listerine is safe to use in any body cavity.

Keep Listerine handy and for your health's sake, use it systematically in bad weather. Write for our great free book, "Personal Hygiene"—a help to anyone. Address Dept. S. 61, Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Do this and escape colds

Countless colds start when germs are carried to the mouth on food. By using Listerine on the hands before every meal, you attack such germs and lessen the risk of cold. Remember this, mothers, when handling baby's food.

Here is a challenge that rings with fulfillment. Its bid is to all who would own the best, and no car is excepted.

In Fast Getaway—against the champions of any price class. In Speed—anything the road offers up to 70 miles an hour. In Endurance—60 miles an hour all day long is being proved by thousands. In Hill-climbing—give it the hardest task you know. In Size and Roominess—match with big cars of large passenger capacity. In Appearance and Smartness—compare it with the costly cars, in which high price is paid for just those things. In Economy—against small light cars, whose chief appeal is economical operation, and which do not contend for performance distinction.

By tens of thousands motorists are accepting the Essex challenge in demonstration tests that decisively prove fulfillment.

Beyond its brilliant new power, and 70 mile an hour performance, there is a wealth of comparison to high-priced cars, in fine detail, fittings, and operation advantages.

The new bodies are larger, roomier, and more beautifully finished and smartly equipped. Driving ease is improved by even easier steering, quiet gear shifting and greater motor smoothness. Four hydraulic shock absorbers add further to famous Essex riding ease. And there is mental as well as physical security in the new type double action four-wheel brakes, which are weatherproof and respond uniformly to the lightest pressure in any weather.

These are but a few of the 76 advanced features which a million Super-Six owners are appraising in Essex the Challenger. Come examine and drive it. It will not only win your endorsement, but challenge your ownership interest against any value that motordom may offer.

Snaps Out of Cold In Record Time!

Did you ever hear of a five-hour remedy for colds? There is one, and it really does bring you out of it completely. Even if it's grippe, this method works, only it takes longer. It's a simple compound the druggist has in tablets. Pleasant-tasting, but it sure has the "authority!"

Plenty of people with a bad cold in the morning have been rid of it by night; and the secret is Pape's Cold Compound. You'll think it just luck the first time, but it always goes to the spot. Druggists have it for 35c.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Pittsburghers At Winter Resorts

AT this time of the year when the season is practically over, and many folks have already left for Palm Beach, Europe, or the West Indies, those still in town have news, nevertheless, of their social set to add interest to lulls in contract bridge. Haven't you ever noticed that just when things are unbelievably dull here at home, Pittsburghers who are spending a few weeks away or those who used to live here, are apt to figure in most interesting events?

Of course you know the James Barlow Cullums and their debutante daughter, Mollie (who came out in New York this year, I hardly need mention), have been in Gotham the greater part of the season.

Besides attending debutante events, they have many other interests, too, in the social world. And now I hear that Mollie, her mother and father will give a dinner at the Plaza on Saturday for Denyse de Zerman Remington and her fiance, Allen Earle Whitman.

OF course you remember the marriage of Thomas Morrison, Jr., formerly of Pittsburgh, now of Philadelphia, and Sara Barnes, daughter of Mrs. John Barnes, of Haverford. Their marriage in October was attended by many a Pittsburgher, I remember. The Morrisons are now back from their wedding trip, I hear, and gave their first at home in Haverford Mansions on Sunday afternoon. The Morrisons have announced two more at-home dates when they'll meet all their friends again—January 27 and February 3.

THE Ambrose Nevin Diehls, who've been spending the month in the South, are now at Nassau where a smart winter colony has already gathered.

DOWN at Palm Beach the season is in full swing with dances and teas and dinners so numerous that one wonders how the colonists there have a moment for golf or for water sports. Really the pace of the winter season is continued with outdoor sports added to one's calendar for the day.

Wherever smart society gathers, and one of the "wherevers" is surely Palm Beach, there one will find one of Pittsburgh society's prominent men—Eben M. Byers. He was a guest at a dinner given at the Patio Lamaze recently by William J. Baxter.

AS usual, New York is entertaining many Pittsburghers. Mrs. Martha Edmondson, of Negley avenue, is at the Barclay, I hear.

FROM time to time one hears of an engagement "related" to Pittsburgh society. Mrs. William K. Sloss has made known the engagement of her nephew, S. Winston Childs, Jr., son of the Starling W. Childses, of New York and Norfolk, Conn., formerly of Pittsburgh. His fiancee is a South Manchester, Conn., girl—Cynthia Cheney, daughter of Mrs. John Davenport Cheney.

ONE of the last of the January weddings will be that of Elizabeth Roberts Buchanan, daughter of the Edward Robert Buchanans, of Denniston avenue, and Kenneth Edward Niemann, son of the A. Edward Niemanns, of North Negley avenue, to take place Saturday afternoon.

Several events have been planned in her honor. Mrs. Herbert Phillips will give a breakfast on Friday for Elizabeth, I believe. Mrs. Niemann's father and mother will give the rehearsal on Friday evening in the Pittsburghg Athletic Association.

AMONG the local people out of town just now are Mrs. William Falconer, of Maryland avenue, who is spending a month with relatives in Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. William E. Evans, of the Schenley Hotel, and Dr. and Mrs. Frank Evans, who are at the Serono Hotel in St. Petersburg, Fla., and Miss Helen Beatty, of Richland lane, who is spending a short time in New York, and Dr. and Mrs. Martin N. Greer, of Marshall avenue, North Side, will leave February 15, for Miami Beach.

THE marriage of Miss Margherita Louise DeSimone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. DeSimone, of Shetland avenue, and David John Camilli, son of Mrs. Elisa Camilli, was solemnized this morning at 10 o'clock in the Help of Christians Church. The bride wore white satin made with a full court train. Her veil was of tulle and she carried orchids, roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Marie DeSimone, as her sister's maid of honor, appeared in orange chiffon with a hat to match, while frocks of sunblow chiffon with turquoise blue hats were worn by the bridesmaids, Miss Regina DeSimone, Miss Josephine Rini, of Cleveland; Miss Delphine Bisi and Miss Rosemary Vecchiola. They carried roses and snapdragon. Charles Magnant was best man and the ushers included Anthony J. DeSimone, Jr., Frank Gregg, Lucian Gregg, Frank A. DeSimone, Jr., and Michael E. Catanzaro. A breakfast in Webster Hall followed the ceremony. After February 3, Mr. and Mrs. Camilli will be at home in Washington boulevard.

BROOKLINE CHAPTER, No. 117, O. E. S., will hold a card party tomorrow night in the Dormont Masonic Hall. Bridge, "500" and euchre will be played.

THE senior class of the Sacred Heart High School will hold its annual dance February 11 in the Hotel Henry. Miss Genevieve Ryan is general chairman with Miss Marjorie Campbell in charge of advertising; Miss Genevieve Blatt, publicity; Joseph Davis, door; and Miss Valette Epping and Miss Helen White, patrons.

THE Pittsburgh Goucher Alumnae Association has postponed its benefit performance of "The Royal Family," set for February 4, because of a change in the running schedule of the play. Instead, the play will come to Pittsburgh early in the spring and the association will continue its plans for the benefit then.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH C. MOORE, of Forbes street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Beatrice Logan Moore, and James Andrew Leach, son of the Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Leach, of River Edge, N. J., which was solemnized yesterday in the Moore home by the Rev. John F. Murray. Mr. and Mrs. Leach will live in this city.

MRS. B. KEARNS, assisted by Miss Margaret Friel, will be hostess at a card party to be given at the Raphael Home, Penn avenue, Wednesday evening, January 30. Bridge, euchre, 500 and old maid will be played, beginning at 9 o'clock.

MRS. BERNARD KIRK is hostess today for the benefit card party being held at the Raphael Home, Penn avenue.

Younger Generation Defended by Rabbi

THAT continually discussed and much criticized "younger generation" finds a staunch supporter in the Rev. Louis Wolsey, of Philadelphia, who spoke yesterday before the Pittsburgh Council of Jewish Women. At the January meeting in the Y. M. & W. H. A., Rabbi Wolsey said: "I am quite sure that this generation is a cleaner generation than yours and mine; it is more honest, abler mentally and more independent in thought, more courageous than its prudent and political elders. I believe we can trust the next day to these young people just as safely as our fathers and mothers gave this day into our hands." The problems of "Youth in Rebellion" (Dr. Wolsey's subject), he says are being attacked by many as if they were entirely new. He quoted from a letter written in 1852 by Charles Kingsley, in which that celebrated man had complained of the transgressions and difficulties and irreverence of his "younger generation." There is scarcely a change taking place anywhere in world affairs that rebellious youth is not behind, Mr. Wolsey said. He holds that since the war youth has been saying to its elders, "You made these laws, you formed this civilization. We have paid the price. We no longer respect your authority, we have no regard for your laws and no respect for your civilization." He believes that youth is only doing outside what it sees done inside the home. Of prohibition, he said, "If you make laws and then secretly violate them, you must give your children the same right." Mrs. Raymond Kaufmann presided and announced as speaker for the February meeting Louis Golding, who will talk on "A Jewish Wanderer in Strange Lands."

MRS. WILLIAM MACLAY HALL has again been unanimously chosen as general chairman for the annual Pittsburgh week for the blind, which will begin April 15 in the Wabash Building. This will be the sixth annual educational exhibition held in behalf of the blind, a movement which has become almost an institution in this city and in which Protestant, Jewish and Catholic denominations co-operate. Mrs. Hall is asking that those who served on committees in former years volunteer their services this year.

MRS. M. M. REDENBAUGH will speak on "The House of My Dreams" at a meeting of the Housekeepers' Club tomorrow in the Congress of Clubs.

DEAN HELEN SMITH will be the speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Western Reserve Alumnae Association to be held Saturday at 12:30 in the Congress of Clubs. Mrs. Paul Demmler, Beelermont street, is taking reservations.

BOGGS & BUHL

[The second of three advertisements published in connection with the celebration, next Friday, of the 100th (semi-annual) Remnant Day at Boggs & Buhl]

the story of remnant day

YESTERDAY we took you back to the first Remnant Day a half century ago and retraced the steps that have made Boggs & Buhl's Remnant Day the greatest thing of its kind in America. And it must be worthy of this tremendous public confidence, else thousands of people from a radius of many miles would not, year after year, find a common meeting place in Boggs & Buhl on Remnant Day. They come from all parts of Ohio, from West Virginia and all of Western Pennsylvania. They have stood in the rain, in icy blasts waiting for the doors to open.

And the spirit of Remnant Day Crowds! People are not here for just a moment or so and in a mad rush to be off. It's plain to be seen they're here to spend the day. They eat luncheon at the Fountain or in the Tea Room. They go from department to department . . . and everywhere they find plentifully the Red Ink Prices they have come for . . . and so we come to the announcement

the greatest of them all the 100th remnant day

From the moment the doors open to the end of the day, Remnant Day crowds this year are going to experience a fitting demonstration of how Boggs & Buhl will celebrate the observance of its 100th Remnant Day. Words won't make this Remnant Day "the greatest of them all"... but Good Goods and Prices will and they'll be here for all who come to get them.

See Tomorrow's paper for lists of items—Remember the sale is not until Friday

J. D., JR., LACKS MAJORITY IN "BATTLE FOR PROXIES"

LADDIE BOY, ONCE 'FIRST DOG OF LAND,' IS DEAD

NEWTONVILLE, Mass., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Laddie Boy, the magnificent Airedale which as the "first dog of the land" once roamed at will about the White House grounds, is dead at the home here of Harry L. Barker, secret service man to whose care he was entrusted seven years ago at the death of his master, President Harding.

The end came yesterday while the dog, ailing for many months of old age, rested his head on the arms of Mrs. Barker, who had nursed him through a serious illness only a short time ago.

Laddie Boy was a half-brother to President Coolidge's dog, Laddie Buck. He came to the White House on March 4, 1921, a gift to President Harding from Charles W. Quetsche, an Ohio admirer.

On the death of the President, Mrs. Harding gave the dog to Barker in return for Barker's kindness and as a remembrance of the President. When Barker was assigned to the Boston district he brought Laddie Boy with him and until recently the animal was a general pet with the children of the neighborhood.

Governor Entertains Legislators Feb. 5

HARRISBURG, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Invitations have been issued for a reception by Gov. Fisher to members of the Legislature on February 5 at 8:30 p. m. Mrs. Henry Tatnall Brown, Jr., daughter of the chief executive, will aid her father in receiving.

The invitation list includes members and principal officers of the General Assembly; state elective officers and deputies; cabinet officers and deputies; newspaper correspondents and personal friends of the Governor.

PHILLIP BARKER AND "LADDIE BOY"

FIGHT NOT WON, FRIENDS OF OIL MAGNATE SAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(INS.)—Friends and associates of both John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Col. Robert W. Stewart today professed to be "We are satisfied with the progress of the battle of the proxies," which is to settle whether Rockefeller will be successful in his fight to prevent the re-election of Stewart as chairman of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. The issue will come to decision at the annual meeting of the stockholders in Whiting, Ind., March 7.

Rockefeller so far has received "less than 45 per cent" of the stock of the company, it was said today. A spokesman for Rockefeller said that proxies were coming in "at a satisfactory rate."

These associates, who are acting for Rockefeller in his absence in Egypt, intimated that they expect to see 90 per cent of the 9,231,500 shares outstanding represented at the meeting in Whiting.

FIGHT STILL KEEN

Mr. Rockefeller's spokesmen did not give any definite information as to the amount of stock represented by proxies already received. They made it plain, however, that the fight against Stewart was not won.

Col. Stewart's friends, meanwhile, expressed satisfaction with the response to the management's requisition for proxies. No estimates as to the amount pledged to Stewart could be obtained. It was reported in Wall Street, nevertheless, that his campaign for proxies was being intensified.

FIGHT MOVES WEST

The Denver (Col.) Post says that E. G. Seubert, president of the Indiana company and a backer of Stewart, has arrived in Denver and has been in conference with officials of the Midwest Refining Company, a subsidiary of the Indiana company, on plans for a vigorous drive for support of Midwest stockholders.

The battle for proxies has been intensified in Denver because of the fact that Henry M. Blackmer, a former president of the Midwest Refining Company, now in exile in France, and a former Denver resident, still retains a large interest in the Midwest company.

*Below zero.

Weather Conditions.

The disturbance that was centered over Kansas yesterday morning, and which produced the rain and snow yesterday afternoon and last night, is now well down the St. Lawrence valley. The Northwest high is now centered over the northern plains, highest barometer 30.46 inches at Huron. The high is attended by generally clear skies and low temperatures. Zero weather extends as far south as Kansas, and eastward to Illinois, and over the border states and the Canadian Northwest the temperatures range from 20 to 30 degrees below zero.

Another low appears in the far Southwest, and is causing light precipitation in the Rocky Mountain states.

River Conditions.

While there was considerable precipitation over the river district, most of it was in the form of snow, consequently, the runoff was light. There is a slight rise in the Monongahela this morning, which will check the fall in the Ohio, and may produce a slight rise. Stage at Pittsburgh is 17.0 feet; Dam No. 2, 9.1, and Dam No. 6, 16.9. Colder weather will also help to check the runoff.

A CLEVER idea was worked out yesterday at the Travellers' meeting in the Congress of Clubs. It was "drama day" and the entire program was given as if it were a radio program, with none of the participants in view. Mrs. J. C. Schreiner was the announcer, Mrs. William H. D. Johnston and Mrs. John Montgomery. Tea and a social hour followed.

WHAT he termed "the Pennsylvania hex situation" was discussed by Ray Sprigle, city-editor of the Post-Gazette, before the Women's Advertising Club and its guests of the Women's Press Club, yesterday in Gimbel's. The interesting thing about the situation, the speaker said, is the attitude of the great mas of people, from the uneducated and uninformed farmer to the business and profesional man, all of whom accept it unquestioningly because they have grown up and are familiar with it. The average person in York and Lancaster counties can take his witchcraft or leave it alone, Mr. Sprigle said, in telling how the medical men will permit pow-wowing in cases which they are attending. All the talk of educating the people has died down and, according to Mr. Sprigle, "York and Lancaster counties will go along playing with the pow-wow idea until another murder is committed."

New Recipe for Coloring Gray Hair

By LOIS PAGE

One of the questions most frequently asked me is: What shall I do for my graying hair?" Unhesitatingly I recommend that tried and proven recipe of sage and sulphur. A brew of common garden sage with sulphur and alcohol added, makes the best hair restorer I know of.

You can either prepare the mixture yourself at home, or as most people prefer to do, buy it already prepared and ready to use. Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur is the name of the ready-to-use preparation and since all druggists sell it at 75c a bottle, there is really no need of going to the bother of making it yourself.

You simply moisten a comb or soft brush with it, and draw it through the hair, one strand at a time. One application banishes the gray and one or two more completely restores your gray, faded or streaked hair to its original color. There is no hard, dyed look. The whole effect is one of perfect naturalness. Thousands of men and women use this preparation with no one suspecting it.

FARMING IS PROFITABLE HERE, PARK HEAD SHOWS

Allegheny County agriculture is a profitable business, Paul B. Riis, director of county parks, has demonstrated.

Mr. Riis reported yesterday to County Commissioners that he had raised on the North and South park grounds enough hay, oats and straw to feed the 40 odd buffalo and a like number of deer on the park reservations and in addition had 50 tons of hay left over, and he asked permission to sell this to the city for $1,600.

The County Commissioners granted the request.

The total value of the crops raised, Director Riis reported, was $9,000.

Year-round Refrigeration

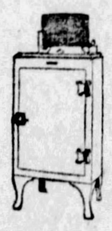
Food, to be wholesome, must be kept constantly below 50 degrees. That is the danger point at which bacteria begin to multiply rapidly. Remember that kitchens are often as hot in winter as in summer. On the other hand, don't freeze food—it is harmful to milk, butter, vegetables.



The General Electric Refrigerator gives you year-round, proper refrigeration economically, automatically. It is years ahead in design, worry-proof and extremely quiet. It supplies you with plenty of ice cubes. Phone today for our illustrated booklet, then come and examine the many models at our display rooms. You can arrange to buy on time payments, if you wish.

"I am so happy . . that the last pimple is gone"

The way to the skin is through the blood. Strong, healthy blood nourishes the body and fights against infection and disease.

You may be happy, too!

EVERY evening thousands enjoy themselves at dinner-parties, dances, theatres, games, clubs. Many thousands more are denied the joy of such merriment and happiness.

Maybe this denial is due to a skin trouble. First impressions cannot be good without a clear skin—first impressions are quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Hold people back. Steal away joy and happiness.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

A lovely—clear skin—is within the reach of all. To those who have lost it, hope is offered. You, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.

Many thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking S.S.S. It is Nature's own blood tonic for raising the body's power of resistance to disease, improving the appetite, building firm flesh, and clearing the skin.

Aria, "M'appari" from "Martha" .. Flotow
Mr. Gigli.

Beniamino Gigli, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, sang to a full house at Syria Mosque last night, and enjoyed a hearty response after every one of his songs. Not averse to a little vaudeville and other tricks of the stage, he assured his popularity from the outset. But he did give such a glorious exhibition of bel canto that the sheer beauty of his vocal production easily compensated for whatever musical shortcomings one could find.

Gigli is the most intelligent singer among Italian tenors. He relies not alone on his tenor altissimo, exaggerated sobs, nor his good humor to project his songs, but in all his operatic work is most discreet about volume of tone and nuance to make well-turned phrases as well as to clarify the purpose of the song. He is diligent enough to find pleasant songs outside the operatic repertory; if they belong to the old Italian school, he is sure to sing them with simplicity and purity of style; if they come from modern Spain or the folk music of his land, they emerge full of color and southern gayety.

Once during the evening Gigli's effort to please descended to the commonplace, but he immediately saved the situation with an impassioned delivery of the "Vesti la giubba," from "Pagliacci." "La donna e mobile" was not absent from among the encores, nor "O, sole mio," but Weckerlin's charming "Bergerette," Leoncavallo's "Povero Punchinello," Rudolfo's air from "La Boheme," and especially the exquisite excerpt from Lalo's "Le roi d'Ys" were examples of great tenor singing.

While Gigli rested, Margaret Shotwell played two groups of piano numbers. She struggled valiantly with a mediocre piano and succeeded in getting only girlish results. Miguel Sandoval played good accompaniments for the tenor.

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

"OWE NEW HEALTH TO KONJOLA" IS HEARD OVER CITY

Remarkable Restorations to Daily; Happy Hundreds

Health Being Accomplished Indorse New Medicine.

MRS. ALMA E. WEST

It was predicted less than two weeks ago that the people of this city would very quickly find out about the merits of this new medicine, Konjola, that is causing such a sensation in Pittsburgh and vicinity. With each passing day more and more local residents are calling at the McCulloch Drug Store, Penn Ave. and Sixth St. this city, where the Konjola Man is explaining the merits of this medicine, to find out for themselves about the powers of this medicine. Among the many callers are men and women who have already been benefited through its use. The prevailing sentence heard throughout is "I owe my new health to Konjola." It is a medicine containing the juices from 22 roots and herbs, combined with other recognized medical ingredients of the finest quality. It works with the sufferer's own food, restoring a more normal healthy action to the important functionary organs of the body. Among the vast number of people who voluntarily indorse Konjola is Mrs. Alma E. West, 212 E. Second street, Oil City, Pa. Happy to be free of her health troubles Mrs. West gladly writes:

"When I think of three years of suffering from stomach trouble and nervousness being ended by three bottles of Konjola, I fail to find words to express my amazement and my admiration for Konjola. I had tried everything and found no relief. I was ill pounds below weight, tired all the time, irritable and totally run down. My appetite failed me utterly, and I was restless at night. My husband, who had found Konjola the only solution of his stomach trouble, asserted that I try Konjola, but I was in such a frame of mind that I felt that there was nothing to help me. He finally insisted so vigorously that, more to please him than anything else, I started the Konjola treatment. I had a most agreeable surprise. I began to feel better with the very first bottle, and by the time I had taken three bottles of this astonishing remedy I had regained six pounds and was feeling better than I had for three years. Imagine my joy at being able to eat anything without the terrible after-pains. My nerves have been calmed and I am no longer irritable. I can hardly believe that any medicine could bring about this transformation so quickly, particularly when all other medicines had failed to do the least bit of good."

This is but a rare but extreme case of the speed and thoroughness with which Konjola works; there are thousands upon thousands of others on the Konjola records.

Konjola is different from any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants, which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of this Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years. At the same time, many weak and run-down systems have been restored to a new state of health thru this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product, until now, Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this section.

Ingram Firemen With $300 Build Own Engine on Second-Hand Auto

INGRAM NO. 2 FIRE DEPARTMENT AND ITS HOME-MADE ENGINE

When Ingram Borough council decided it could not afford a new $5,000 truck for fire department No. 2, these volunteer firemen built their own fire engine, aboard which they are pictured in front of No. 2 Fire House.

CAPT. FRED G. KADEL AT HIS POST

Capt. Kadel is chief of No. 2 company, which bought a second-hand auto and built the truck for about $300.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

WHERE Fourth avenue ends at the Fourth Avenue Station of the Panhandle Railroad the sparrows in the street and the pigeons are so tame from being fed by "homo sapiens" they will not get out of one's way as one walks across the street. You have to watch your step or you'll step on them. Our little feathered friends seem to forget they have what the prisoner sighed for in that awful song which was the vogue until court suits were threatened.

Yesterday three sparrows were busy eating crusts of bread and were so occupied they wouldn't move even after a playful citizen made a kick at them. The birds looked up, seemed to say: "Oh, grandpa, what big feet you have," and then kept on eating.

Curiously, taxicab drivers in that vicinity have not been able to make up with the birds. "I'll have to take this bird to New Kensington," said one driver to a companion as the passenger stepped into the cab, and the sparrows apparently thought the taxi man was referring to one of them.

At least, all of this is the contribution of Spy No. 469, who files a written report.

Speaking of taxicab drivers, the other night one of them apparently remembered having seen me some place before. "That's good stuff you write about the taxicab men," he said. "Well, I'm glad you like it," said I, as I left the cab. And then he said to me: "Good night, Charlie." I made a survey of myself and found I was wearing an old coat and cap that Charlie Danver had sent up during the last cold spell. I think the taxi driver had the right column all right, but got mixed up because I was wearing Mr. Danver's coat and cap.

ONE of the dangers of the traffic question is the possibility of running down traffic policemen at night. Some of the corners are not well-lighted and even with the white stripe around the back and breast of the traffic policeman there is always danger of an accident. In Boston there is a system whereby a flood light is attached to a telegraph pole and this is directed onto the traffic policeman.

It is suggested by a correspondent that such a system be installed in Pittsburgh.

I pass this along to Mr. Moore of the William Penn Hotel, questioning whether anything can be done about it. It is a complaint from a Pittsburgh citizen that he went into the lobby the other night, where he had planned to meet his wife, only to find that all the chairs in the lobby were occupied by guests of the hotel. The complainant suggests either more chairs or an order making the guests remain in their rooms. He signs the letter: Taxpayer.

WHILE the rest of us sleep, the cleaners of a city plod through their tasks. At a certain hour, like a zero hour, there issues into any hotel lobby a file of silent women, in ages from 40 to 60, who with buckets and brushes move onto a common goal. Once there, as about to begin a worship of some kind, they laboriously get down on their hands and knees. Then they begin to scrub. They crawl ever so slowly, like crabs—backwards. There is no conversation. In some cases that historic mixup in the construction of the Babel Tower is responsible for this. In other cases they don't feel like practicing conversation while using energy and wind in pushing the brush over that awful foe—the floor. There seems to be no complaint in their attitude. Why complain it at home there are children who must be fed and clothed and sent to school so that, long after the scrubwomen are dead, the children, once grown, will not have to go forth nightly to the battle of the mop and the floor?

STUDENT DRIVE FOR BUILDING RILES BOARD

Students of Allegheny High School took the matter of getting a new high school in their own hands, it was said yesterday at a meeting of the Board of Education. School leaders are said to have spoken at assemblies, "ordering" their classmates to obtain 10 signatures apiece to a petition asking for a new building. "The school board doesn't dare refuse us with such a great list of signatures," one girl student is said to have declared at one of the meetings.

Members of the board classed the threatening statements of the students as "insubordination" and declared that nothing of this kind would be tolerated in the future. Plans are being discussed for the rebuilding of a portion of the school. The matter was referred to a special committee for study.

The Wainwright property in North Highland avenue will be purchased by the school board for an athletic field for Peabody High School, it was decided yesterday. Members unanimously authorized the expenditure of $125,000 for the land. Henry Oliver Evans, recently named city controller, sat with the school board at yesterday's sessions.

Parents Identify Child Hit by Auto

The identity of a 7-year-old girl who was seriously injured when struck by an automobile yesterday at Ridge avenue and Fulton street was established when her parents called at the Presbyterian Hospital last night and said she was Margaret Domhlo, of 1216 Reedsdale street. The girl's chest was crushed. The car was driven by Milton Geisinger, 29, of 376 American avenue, Bellevue, police say. Geisinger was arrested.

TWO PITTSBURGHERS' PLAYS TO BE PRODUCED

Two Pittsburghers will be represented among the authors of four short plays to be produced by the Department of Drama of the Carnegie Institute of Technology beginning tomorrow night.

The productions include "The Mountains of Bether" by Carroll Fitzhugh, of Pittsburgh, who is the author of several plays produced in the past by the Drama Department, and "The Unsensible Lovers," by E. Martin Browne, a member of the faculty of the Drama Department. Others in the group to be offered are "The Intruder" by Maurice Maeterlinck, and "The Proposal," a farce by Anton Tchekov.

Browne will stage his own play, Lee Mitchell will stage "The Intruder," Miss Elizabeth Schrader is in charge of the production of the Fitzhugh play, and Theodore Viehman is staging "The Proposal." Performances of the four plays will be repeated Friday and Saturday night.

French Casinos Nick Visitors $16,500,000

PARIS, Jan. 23.—(A.P.)—Wealthy foreigners in France, especially Americans, risked their money more freely on the gaming tables in 1928 than ever before, say Casino managers.

For proof they point out the fact that the profits of the 116 legal casinos in the country last year reached the sum of $16,500,000, an even million more than the previous banner year, 1927.

Letouquet, Deauville and Cannes, the particular happy hunting grounds of English and American gamblers, showed the greatest receipts. Nice, with its six casinos, was a close fourth.

YOUTH MISSING, 'SUICIDE NOTE' DOUBTED

Finding of a "suicide" note early today on Browns Bridge led West Homestead police to search for William Thomas, Jr., 18, of 314 Cherry street, West Homestead.

Despite this indication of suicide, both parents and police believe the boy is alive and headed for New York. Evidence bearing out this belief is that Thomas withdrew $70 in back pay from the Homestead office of the Carnegie Steel Company yesterday and resigned his position. He also took the best of his clothing from home.

"Dear Mother and Dad," the "suicide" note read—"Sorry I didn't come home for supper—but I had my supper. This is the last you will ever see or hear of me. I have taken a gun to make a sure job of it."

The pistol of Thomas, Sr., was missing today. The father said the youth had been discharged from the navy last summer because of ill health and since had been imbued with the wanderlust.

FIREMEN BUILD OWN TRUCK

Ingram Council has been saved from $3,000 to $4,000 through the efforts of a group of volunteer firemen. For about $300 the borough has obtained a new fire truck.

A month ago when members of No. 2 Company found their old truck on the road to the junk heap, they petitioned Council for a new truck A new machine would cost at least $5,000 and this amount seemed beyond the means of the Council.

No. 2 company then asked for funds for repairs. They were told to go ahead with what plans they had. A second-hand touring car was purchased and a virtually new truck body fitted on by the firemen. The made-over piece of apparatus looked and worked as new.

When Council saw the truck a few nights ago it gladly paid the bills, amounting to about $300.

Thirty-three persons arrested by Federal prohibition agents from Pittsburgh and West Virginia in raids on 20 North Side saloons are at liberty today in $1,000 bail bonds each for hearings before the United States commissioner.

The agents, 80 in number, assembled at prohibition headquarters yesterday afternoon and were armed with warrants.

The seizures consisted of 117 gallons of moonshine, 520 gallons of wine, 280 gallons of beer, six gallons of alcohol and 10 gallons of bonded whisky, it is said. The contraband was taken to the government warehouse in trucks.

SHOOTS WOMAN IN QUARREL

Because she would not accompany Frank Eonda, 30, of Canonsburg, to a movie, Mrs. Lena Spareno, 18, was shot in the hip by Eonda last night in the home of her brother, 6 Dick street, East End, police say.

Eonda, according to police, called on Mrs. Spareno, who is said to be separated from her husband, and invited her to a show. When she refused the invitation, Eonda is alleged to have drawn a gun from his pocket and fired.

Albert A. Miglora, the woman's brother, attracted by the shot, ran into the room and grappled with the man. Miglora was overpowered and Eonda escaped in an automobile.

Mrs. Spareno, who has known Eonda for some time, was not seriously wounded, Dr. Thomas Cook, of 1429 Lincoln avenue, said.

JUDGE JOSIAH COHEN

Judge Cohen, 88, in his chambers yesterday on the sixty-first anniversary of his wedding. After a busy day, he viewed the past through rose-colored glasses. She has devoted her life to music and philanthropy—and to me."

PROTESTS HOLD UP BOULEVARD

After the reading of seven or eight remonstrances to the route of the Ohio River boulevard, Bellevue Borough Council last night postponed final passage of an ordinance establishing the location and grades of the proposed highway.

Whether the measure will be passed finally at the next regular meeting, February 5, will depend on developments meanwhile, it was said. Several details as to maintenance and approaches to the boulevard are yet to be settled, it is said.

The remonstrances last night came from property owners affected and were viewed by council as being in the nature of technical protests to protect the interests of the owners in event of litigation over damages.

BORN IN INDIA, MINISTER ACCEPTS PASTORATE HERE

The Rev. Dr. Francis J. Scott, of the First United Presbyterian Church, Connellsville, has accepted a call to the Sixth United Presbyterian Church, Chateau street, North Side, and will assume his new charge, it is expected, within the next month.

Dr. Scott tendered his resignation to his congregation Sunday. A special meeting was called for February 3, at which his release will be granted by the congregation. Similar action by the Westmoreland Presbytery will be taken at a special meeting soon afterward.

Dr. Scott has been in the ministry for 26 years. He was born in India, the son of Theodore L. Scott, veteran missionary stationed at Gujranwala, where he has served for 54 years. The son came to this country at the age of 7, following the death of his mother, and was reared in the home of his grandparents, near Harmony. He is a graduate of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary. He has been pastor of the First Church, Connellsville, for nine years and is president of the Fayette County Sunday School Association. He held charges previously at a mission church at Woodville, Eleventh church, West End, this city, and the Third church, Washington, Pa.

Dr. Scott will fill the vacancy caused by retirement because of ill health of the Rev. Dr. James H. Grier, formerly a faculty member of the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.

Only got one distinction. I was the original Morrow for Secretary-of-State man. It will be offered to him. Hope he takes it. He is a great fellow.

Our present friendly relations with Mexico are due to nothing in the world but the sheer personality of that man. A trained diplomat would never have adopted his plan, and it was the only one that would have worked.

It would have been mighty easy to spoil things down there.

Yours, WILL.

P. S. California had rain. You give us plenty of moisture in the ground and Florida can have all your Hoovers, Morrows, Works, Striblings and Dempseys.

LADY HEATH CAN'T KEEP TITLE AND BE U. S. CITIZEN

(Copyright, 1929, by International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—If Lady Mary Heath, British aviatrix, persists in her intention of becoming an American citizen she will have her title amputated and become just a plain "missus."

International News Service discovered the bad news today. In Section 4 of the naturalization law it reads:

"In case the alien applying to be admitted to citizenship has borne any hereditary title or has borne any order of nobility . . . he shall make an express renunciation of his title or order of nobility in court."

"And what if she refuses?" Charles Van Hagan, chief clerk of the naturalization bureau, was asked.

"Then she cannot become an American citizen," answered Van Hagan.

So to Lady Heath with the bad news.

"Say it isn't so!" said her ladyship, appearing perturbed.

"It's the law, missus—I mean, your ladyship."

"I can't give up my title," she said.

"Why can't you give up your title?"

"It belongs to my husband. So how can I give it up?" she explained.

Her ladyship can try that on the judge—in five years. She cannot get her final citizenship papers until that time. And even untitled women have been known to change their minds within five years.

Title Ban

LADY HEATH

Lady Mary Heath, British aviatrix, must give up her title if she wants to follow her plan to become an American citizen. She's perplexed.

Poincare Wins New Vote of Confidence

PARIS, Jan. 23.—(A.P.)—For the second time in a fortnight, Premier Raymond Poincare has won a vote of confidence in the French chamber. The Deputies voted yesterday, 327 to 262, to support the government.

The confidence was particularly welcome to the premier at this time because of the approaching reparations negotiations and the question of ratification of the Briand-Kellogg pact.

The buyer is a Squirrel Hill builder, who gave in part payment two double houses in Forbes street, Murdoch Farms. It is understood that W. B. Connelly of the Nicola Realty Company was the broker.

Taxes in Pittsburgh are likely to go higher in the future if the effort to secure for the city a fair share of the automobile license fees collected by the State is a failure, James F. Malone, president of City Council, told the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board yesterday. Automobiles are wearing out the city streets and real estate bears the tax burden, according to Mr. Malone. The city is now making an effort to gain a part of the automobile revenue.

PROPER PRECAUTIONS PREVENT THE SPREAD OF COLDS AND INFLUENZA

The faith of health officials in the intelligence of the public has been justified. Rather than taking drastic measures, these officials, in most centers hit by the present epidemic, have been content to issue warnings. The readiness with which the advice has been followed speaks well for the common sense of all of us.

Colds and influenza are prevented by living a sane and normal life. Regular sleep, regular meals with wholesome food, plenty of water—inside and out, exercise in the open—these are among the best ways to keep up the body's resistance to disease of all kinds. Health experts strongly recommend the avoidance of crowded places.

Many thousands are becoming educated to the regular and frequent use of Vapex. This concentrate, obtainable from your druggist in the little square dollar bottle and the package with the green triangle, is the most modern way to prevent and to stop a cold. Each bottle contains 50 treatments. Merely put a drop on your handkerchief, breathe the healing vapor. It is refreshing and will keep your head clear. The strength of one application lasts for an entire day.

MAN ACQUITTED OF MURDER CHARGE

Giuseppe Luciano, of 622 Whittier street, tried on a charge of murder, was acquitted late yesterday in Criminal Court before Judge Ambrose B. Reid by a jury which deliberated about one hour. He shot Nicholas Perruccio, 39, of 665 Lenora street, last July 5.

The shooting occurred in front of the defendant's home and was done in self-defense after the slain man had attacked him and cut him seriously with a knife, the defense contended.

The shooting was done with a revolver which Luciano had taken from Perruccio a short time before at the Perruccio home when Luciano went to the rescue of Mrs. Perruccio, attacked by her husband, according to the testimony. The defendant was represented by Attorney Frank J. Zappala and Assistant District Attorney E. T. Adair conducted the prosecution.

"NANCY DEANE" by ROY L. FOLEY

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Nancy Dean, golden-haired, dark-eyed, who has lived her 18 years with David and Margaret O'Day, foster parents, in Washington, learns she is the granddaughter of the wealthy and aristocratic Montgomery Deanes in Pittsburgh, who disinherited her father and do not even know of her existence. Through John Blair, an upstanding young man, she has learned to admire, she secures a letter to Howard Wescott, manager of the Wear Ever Mills in Pittsburgh. On the train she meets Ginger Varden, a style model who takes her to her boarding house and introduces her to her friends. One of these, Vic Flemming, makes love to her and asks her to marry him. She finally securs a job in the knitting mill where Wescott, attracted by her beauty, offers her a place in the office. She is naively delighted, but both Ginger and Vic characterize Wescott as a "big bum." That same evening while Vic, Jerry Durant, Ginger and Nancy are dining and dancing at the Golden Pheasant, Wescott comes in; Vic picks a quarrel and they have a rough and tumble fight and are arrested. The papers are full of the episode; Ginger hails it as good publicity and insists on getting Nancy a job at modeling with Ziegelbaum, her employer. Mrs. O'Day, in alarm at the paper's account of the fight, telephones to Nancy, who reassures her. When Wescott sees Nancy the next morning he acts as though nothing has happened, takes her to lunch to the country, shows jealousy of Vic Flemming and kisses Nancy. She laughs at him and he is greatly astonished.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XV.

THE dining room of "The Chalet" was just what Nancy expected, but it was some moments before her eyes became sufficiently accustomed to the soft light to distinguish its real charm.

The room was nearly empty, and though there were only a few diners, Wescott had secured a table in the farthest corner of the room, out of earshot of everybody.

"I want to hear all about you," he said, while they were waiting for the first course.

"But, on second thought, before you tell me, I want to know how long you have known Victor Flemming, and just what he is to you."

There was no "if you please" with Howard Wescott. He said "I want," as though he were in the habit of getting what he wished simply by the asking, yet there was nothing objectionable in the way he said it. Had anyone else said, "I want to hear the story of your life," and "I want to know how long you have known Victor Flemming," Nancy would have given a tart reply. She would have told what she chose to tell, not what she was asked.

Now as she sat across the table from Wescott, his black eyes seeming to look right through her as though he could read her heart, she felt it would be useless to tell a falsehood.

For the first time since she had learned of her real parenthood, Nancy had a desire to tell someone of her trueself and her history. Howard Wescott was the first person, outside of John Blair, who she felt might understand her position, who didn't seem cheap, who might not make some remark that would make her sorry she had revealed herself. Yet Howard Wescott, she had been told, was a philanderer, a heartbreaker, a man of many affairs and one burning to make new conquests.

Nancy looked at him, wondering if she could read in his face any of the things she had heard, if she could explain why Ginger had said "the big bum" on hearing she was to work in his office. All that she could see were two smoldering black eyes—that he was leaning over the table toward her. And she knew that she was floating on clouds, that she was giddy, that she was captive to a new sensation she had never felt before.

"I don't care if he's Don Juan himself, he's the handsomest thing I have ever looked at." That was her thought, hard as she tried to drown it.

"Mr. Wescott," she began. "Is this business? Is it customary for a girl who has just come to work in your office to tell you her life story the very first day? Is it business etiquette to explain her friends and to tell where she met them, how long she has known them?"

"Business be hanged!" he answered, "business and I are compatible when we're in the office together, and I'm not in an office now. I'm interested in you. I'm frank to say it. You are a type I've never seen before, with your gold hair, and your dark eyes. Why, they're sort of gold, too, at times, aren't they?"

"Mr. Wescott——"

"Don't call me Mr. Wescott. Call me Howard, and I'll call you Nancy. May I, Nancy? It's an old-fashioned name. I like it. Now, how about Flemming. How did you happen to be with him at the Golden Pheasant last night?"

Nancy knew she'd have to fib a little.

"I met him through some friends. They invited me to go for a ride, and, well—we finally stopped at that roadhouse. You know the rest."

Nancy found herself fibbing as gracefully as though she had always been used to telling plausible falsehoods. A little catch came into her voice, too. Just out of nowhere, the most appealing note of hesitation that many a more sophisticated girl had assumed to win favor from men.

"I'm getting to be a regular Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde," she thought, but whatever she thought, Howard Wescott, right then, was adoring her.

"I see, and do you care much for this Victor Flemming, who is so ready with his fists?"

"Care for him? Why, Mr. Wescott, I've only just met him."

"Well, can't a girl care for a man at one meeting? It's been said she can, you know. What do YOU think?"

He accented the "you," as though her opinion was the most important in all the world.

"I can't think, Mr. Wescott. That is—Howard, if you want it Howard. I'm too hungry right now."

The waiter appeared with a tray carrying two cups of delicious looking bouillon. The interruption came to her as a relief from his burning eyes. She started powdering her nose and peering into her little silver compact, by way of distraction.

"What was it you said?" Wescott asked as soon as the waiter had gone, "what was it you said about caring for a man at the first meeting, about love at first sight?"

"I haven't said a thing about either yet," she said. "I've never given the question a thought."

"In that case, I'll have to let you think it over for a night," he replied, and then asked her to tell him something about herself, where she came from, and why such an attractive, "gloriously golden" girl as she should seek work in a knitting factory.

"I know many a fine lady, that is, so-called, fine. Well, I suppose they are fine ladies, they have the fine feathers at least, who would give 10 years of their lives for that head, for your looks," he said.

Nancy blushed, and being only human, was thrilled. He seemed so earnest. She tried to tell herself that he probably had said exactly the same things to 100 other girls, to the Argentine woman, only he must have talked about raven locks then, instead of "gloriously golden" hair.

"I asked for a job in your factory because I never learned how to do office work, or to teach, or to do any of the hundreds of things that girls have opportunities to learn nowadays," she said, "you see, Mr. Wescott, my life hasn't been as easy as yours. I've had no rich father to pay for a college education, to pay for—"

She caught herself just in time. She was going to say she had had no father to pay for escapades as his father had done—was doing, for that matter.

"I have nothing to conceal, nothing to pretend," she said. "I was born and raised in Washington, Pa., and I came down here with a few dollars in my pocket, and a letter to you from John Blair. Here I am. Not a very thrilling story, is it?"

Then, for some reason she couldn't have explained, Nancy started telling Howard Wescott the real story of her parentage.

"My real name isn't O'Day," she began. "My real name is—"

The name Deane was trembling on her lips when she thought better of saying it.

"Well, what does it matter what my real name is. I'm the daughter of a Pittsburgh man. He's dead now. He was the son of a well-known family here. He married a performer in a circus. My father's people disowned him."

Nancy's eyes began to moisten. She swallowed hard.

"I was born in Washington while my mother was on a tour with a show, eighteen years ago. My father was dead when I was born. He had been killed. Well, I was left with the O'Days. I've been with them ever since. It was only recently that my mother returned to Washington. I had never seen her since I could remember. She was killed in a circus right before my eyes. John Blair knows. He was there."

"John Blair? Where was he?" Wescott asked. He was leaning over the table, absorbed in every word she was saying.

"He had taken me to the circus that night. We both saw her when she fell."

Nancy paused and started searching for her handkerchief.

Wescott seemed to be wrapped in meditation. His thoughts were far away from The Chalet.

"John Blair—" he said slowly. "Sorry I've let him drift out of my life. He was one of the squarest shooters in college. I don't believe I've seen him twice in a year. But I'm mighty glad he considered me enough of a friend to send you to me. I'm interested in your story. Go on."

"That's all there is to it," Nancy said. "I know who my grandparents are. I'm told they are well-to-do and past middle age; that they live somewhere on Fifth avenue, when they're in Pittsburgh."

Howard Wescott let his knife and fork drop.

"They live on Fifth avenue! Why, I know nearly every family that's lived on that street for years. At least the upper end of the street. Who are they?"

He asked the question with such a note of command that Nancy was again on the verge of saying, "The Deanes," but she held back.

"What does it matter who they are?" she said, "they disowned my father and they would not recognize my mother. They'd hardly care about me. Besides, they don't know I exist."

"My lord, what a story," Wescott said, "what a yarn for the newspapers."

"Please, please, Mr. Wescott, please don't tell any of the newspapers," Nancy thought with horror of the story in the afternoon papers now.

"A poor but proud golden-haired girl, the daughter of one of Pittsburgh's black sheep, working in a knitting factory——"

Howard Wescott was talking more to himself than to Nancy, his face brighter, handsomer than ever, glowing with interest.

"I must know your grandparents," he said, "if they've lived on Fifth avenue for the last eighteen years—or however old you are. I must know them well. Let me see——"

"Is it the Brownings?"

"No."

"The Hathaways? No, it can't be the Hathaways, they never had any children."

"The Morrisons? No, I know their family history almost as well as I do my own."

"The Deanes?"

When Howard Wescott started to recite the names of the people he knew on Fifth avenue, Nancy resolved that if he said "the Deanes" just as he had, that she would make no sign, not even flicker an eyelash. Though the name, spoken by him, was like a needle thrust into her heart, she made no sign whatever.

"No."

"The Singletons?"

"No."

She begged him not to guess any more names because she wouldn't tell if he did mention it.

"I ask no favors of my grandparents," she said, "they are nothing more than a name to me. I have never seen them. They do not know that I'm alive."

"I knew there was something different about you," he answered. "I knew there was some kind of mystery about you, that you were no ordinary factory girl. And my hunch has turned out right. But Heavens! girl, do you know what you are doing? Do you realize that you are turning down your own birthright because of a little false pride?"

"Let's not talk any more about it" Nancy said. "You had better drink your soup, it's getting cold."

With the confession of her true parentage, Nancy felt more free, more on a plane, somehow, with the handsome, dark-headed man of the reputed hot blood so far as women are concerned, who sat across from her. She felt that in her veins there was the blood of the aristocrat, too, though Nancy was no snob. She simply couldn't be. She only believed that if Howard Wescott knew that she came at least from one side of her family, came from his own kind of people, that he might not be so ready to force his attentions upon her.

She was not posing when she refused to divulge the name of her grandparents. She, herself, had developed no curiosity toward them. She only knew that Muddy O'Day was her mother and that no wealth or family could buy her away from Mud and Darry.

After she had told her story Howard Wescott become more silent. Every little while he would look up to shake his head quizzically and say:

"Can't understand it," or "I'll be da—."

On the way back, just on the outskirts of the city, he pointed toward a large and rambling white house set back from the road and shaded by huge elms.

"That's John Blair's home," he said, "that is, it's his mother's home. I used to think it was wonderful to come out here when I was a youngster. It seemed away out in the country then, and now the city's crept out to the very doorstep."

Nancy looked at the house. It was the very kind of a home that John Blair would come from, she thought. There was something so real about it, plain and wholesome. The garden, a riot of summer flowers, the graveled drive, the look of the building and grounds told Nancy O'Day that John Blair came from a home every bit as fine, as aristocratic, as that of the man beside her.

They had driven by too swiftly. She would have liked to stop. To sit in the car and feast her eyes on the garden, on the peacefulness of it all. But there was no stopping. In a few moments they were back on the city streets and Howard Wescott had deliberately gone out of his way to drive out Fifth avenue. As the car swung past the houses on that street he started to name the people who lived in them.

"The Goodriches, the Mitchells, Benjamins, Kingsburys, his own home."

When they passed the Wescott home Nancy noticed that it was of a dark red brick, built after the style of the English country home.

"The Harringtons, the Egglestons, the Deanes—"

Nancy looked over the big house which he pointed out as the Deanes. She let her eyes rest upon it as casually as she could, wondering if Howard Wescott heard the pounding of her heart.

"Passed it yet?" he asked.

"Not, not yet," Nancy lied.

Past and Present -:- -:- By Truda Dahl

THE joy of Winter sports, and how much of a thrill and pleasure we get out of flying through the crispy air on the wings of Mercury. Of course, it's wonderful to feel that we have wings, even though they be of the sharpest steel—but that doesn't detract from the pleasure one whit. In fact, it adds to it!

But how different now and in Mother's day. Or in Grandmother's! For then they wore voluminous skirts which swept the ground and they skated with little squeals of fear and insisted on being tightly held by their escort. And the skating was done at a most decorous pace so that she wouldn't tire herself.

But now! Oh boy! Daughter holds her own in the races with Brother and Brother's friends, and she wears the shortest of skirts, or perhaps knickers, and it's hard to tell which is girl and which is boy. But Past or Present, they all skate toward the same goal—Love, and even though the way is a bit different, in the end it all ends the same! Just a matter of styles, that's all!

Shadows Begin to Gather at the Old Hotel

"DO hurry, everybody!" Marion begged impatiently while we were engaged in the process designated by Lillian as "primping up." She had washed her hands, run a pocket comb through her fair, rubbed a compact over her nose, and rushed to the balcony outside the windows of her mother's apartment. "I want to show you what a scream these people look down here on the street."

Mary obeyed her summons almost at once, and by the time Lillian and I came through the French windows the two girls were laughing convulsively as they leaned over the balcony.

"Mums has seen this," Marion said to me as we reached them, "but you haven't. Just watch that woman with the sun umbrella and the tall man with the stick. See! They're coming from the east. They look quite like people now, only smaller. Now look at them as they get directly beneath you. Oh! Mary! look quick! They're the greatest scream yet."

Mary echoed her hysterical squeal of delight, and Lillian and I laughed indulgently at the really ludicrous spectacle presented by the pedestrians, foreshortened and grotesquely distorted in appearance.

"They're exactly like great big beetles floundering around that way," Marion said gleefully. "And if anybody has any thing odd about his walk like swinging his arms it's so much funnier."

"Here comes Uncle Dicky and Mr. Underwood," Mary announced. "It'll be fun to see how they look."

But Marion frowned and drew back quickly from the balcony rail.

"I'm afraid Mother thinks we ought to be down in the hotel lobby now to meet them instead of fooling up here," she said.

Her voice was flat, her manner wholly devoid of the attractive animation which had invested it but a second before. I saw Lillian's lips compress into a thin straight line of pain at her daughter's answer, and knew that she recognized as I did the reason for the transformation in the young girl's attitude. Not even in her jesting moods could Marion rid herself of the rancor against her stepfather which she was cherishing.

Lillian's astuteness, however, was proof against her own pain and her young daughter's ill humor. Her voice was even and controlled, her smile plausible as she promptly agreed with Marion's little speech.

"You are quite psychic my dear," she said. "That is exactly what I am thinking. Let us go down at once."

"Well! what's the verdict?" Harry Underwood asked as we met them in the big lobby. He looked directly at me, and I felt Dicky's eyes also upon me, but Lillian prevented me from answering.

"You'll not get a word until after luncheon," she declared briskly. "We're too starved to speak—"

"Yes, I can see—rather—hear that," Dicky drawled, but she ignored him loftily.

"Suppose we lunch here," she said, addressing her husband and voicing a proposal to which I already had assented. "I can vouch that it isn't at all bad, and then our dear neighbor-to-be can see how they're going to like it."

"Suits me," Harry Underwood answered. "How about you, Dicky-bird?"

"Who am I?" Dicky retorted, "that I should have any voice in the plans of these here wimmen? Nothing and—"

"'Less than the dust beneath our chariot wheels,'" Lillian informed him with an impish grimace. "All right then, everybody. Let's descend upon the dining room. Marion, come and keep Uncle Dicky from annihilating me. I've got to make my peace with him, or he won't enjoy his luncheon."

She caught at Dicky's arm with a laugh as she gestured Marion to his other side. But I knew that her apparently absurd ruse had a reason behind it. She wished to keep Marion as far as possible from the vicinity of her stepfather, for fear that the girl would not be able to conceal her vehement aversion for him.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Gifts Unnecessary

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I have just received an invitation to the wedding of a teacher who taught in my school last year. She was not my teacher and I do not feel like putting money into a present for her. Also I do not think that it is necessary. Can you suggest any other way of acknowledging the invitation, as it is not possible for me to attend the wedding? I am 14 years old and would appreciate any advice that you would give me.

E. R. R.

I AGREE with you that there isn't any reason why you should send a present to this former teacher. The only thing necessary for you to do is to answer the invitation. If it is the usual formally engraved invitation, write a formal, third-person "regret" such as I have so often outlined in my column.

Hope Chest Gift

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

My engagement will not be announced until May, 1929. Is it correct for my intended fiance to give me a hope chest? HELEN.

YES, as long as he is now your fiance, even if your engagement is not announced, this gift would be correct. But, of course, if your friends know it, the engagement will be "announced."

Add the Name

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

In a salutation or in saying goodby to anyone, is it proper to use the person's name, as "Good morning, Miss ——" or "Good night, Miss——?" Does this signify more refinement than merely saying, "Good morning," or "Good night?" F. J.

A GOOD question, F. J.! It is proper to add the person's name to such salutations and to any form of salutations. Your last question, too, is interesting—and my answer is "Yes." The use of a person's name adds a graciousness, a special accustomedness, a flavor of cosmopolitanism, that to my way of thinking, is very attractive. That is why I always recommend, in my column, that if the person is sure that he or she has heard the name of the person correctly, it is delightful to add the name to the accepted phrase of acknowledgement of an introduction: "How do you do, Mrs. Allen."

Parents, too, should train their children to add the names of people to whom they are speaking. It is especially appealing in the manners of a child.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

The Truth About Man

ONE of the brand new problems of this brand new world is how to keep a woman in the house.

For years the favorite topic of dispensers of advice has been "How to Keep a Husband Home Nights." But now it's the other way about. That pitiful cry that you hear in the air is the concerted wails of the lonely men who are eating off the refrigerator, feeding the cat, or reading the farewell note pinned to the portieres.

Woman is "on the GO!" Woman has always been "on the go." when she had the time, the money and the liberty. And now that there are no bars on the doors and windows, no large broods of babies clinging to her skirts, and nothing but a can-opener to hold her to the kitchen, woman is proving that it is SHE, not man, who is the restless sex!

When a man travels, it is in order to GET somewhere. But a woman stars going just in order to GO.

When Father takes the car out, it is because he wants to reach the office, the club or the golf links. It's always Mother who says, "Oh, let's go for a DRIVE!" Somewhere—anywhere—just so she keeps going!

It is a woman, not man, who can't bear to "stay put." It is woman, not man, who is always looking forward to "moving day," summer trips, winter cruises and automobile tours.

Man is a domestic animal, like the cat, who prefers to loll around in the same old place, year after year. He is the original "sit-by-the-fire."

It is woman who is constantly moving the furniture around, changing the curtains, and altering the color-scheme around the house.

A man doesn't like to have things changed or moved. He wants to find the same chair in the same place, every night, and is hurt if you even turn the cushion to hide the worn place. Any suggestion of newness about the house upsets him.

That is why cleaning days are his pet aversions. Just that unfamiliar, shiny, neat look about the room grates on his sensibilities. It is hard to get him to buy new clothes—or even to change his old ones.

A woman wants a new hat every few weeks and new shoes every few minutes; but a man will cling to a moth-eaten cap and sweater until they fall apart in his hands. A woman is always eager to make new friends; and a man hates to go even to a party where he will meet strange people.

Man is a creature of HABIT! That is what keeps him putting his latchkey into the same old lock and wiping his feet on the same old doormat, long after the woman inside the house has ceased to charm him. Man MUST have a HOME! But now that woman has found her "going foot," how will he keep her IN it?

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Hands Are Carriers of Dreaded "Flu" Germs

MANY dangerous ailments are carried by the hands. Some of them are distinctly "hand-conveyed" diseases. Associating with us, just as unconscious of being menaces as we are of their existence, are "carriers of disease." Every once in a while we hear of an outbreak of typhoid fever or diphtheria. On investigation by the health authorities it is found that a carrier has been responsible for the epidemic.

DR. COPELAND

The carrier has had the disease, perhaps years ago, and recovered from it. But the tonsils or gall bladder continue to harbor and to breed the deadly germs. Without the knowledge of the carrier, they are spread and come in contact with susceptible persons. Then there is trouble.

In 1918, and to a lesser extent in 1919, the whole world suffered from influenza. More persons died from its effects than were killed in all the wars of history. Nothing appeared to stay the hand of death.

It was natural that scientists should accept the challenge and exert their every effort to defeat this form of attack from mankind's chief enemy. Laboratories everywhere have studied influenza, seeking to find its cause and then to devise a remedy.

I am sorry to say little has been determined. After 10 years of intensive study we are almost as helpless now as we were in October, 1918. As I write, we are hearing of multitudes of influenza cases throughout North America. When these words are printed there may have been recorded the story of another epidemic. I pray not.

Have we learned nothing about influenza? Chiefly this—that it is a hand-borne disease.

Of course the secretions of the nose and throat, sprayed into the air by sneezing or forcible talking, may carry the germs. When this moisture is received by the lips or nose of another, there may be infection with influenza. But it is more likely that the hands of an infected person, moistened by his saliva or other secretions, may come in contact with the hands of a well person and be conveyed to the nostrils or mouth of the latter.

Because of this danger it is tremendously important that the household utensils, such as dishes, knives and silver, should be thoroughly boiled after use by a person with influenza. Soap, towels, wash-cloths and everything touched by the sick person should not be used by another without previous cleansing.

Frequent washing of the hands with soap and abundance of water should be the habit of one who travels in street cars or handles articles used by others. On coming into the home there should be thorough cleansing of hands and face, as well as the openings of the nostrils.

Kissing the baby or greeting anybody with a friendly kiss, should not be practiced during the prevalence of influenza, bronchitis, pneumonia, or even the common cold. Any contact which may carry directly or indirectly the germ-laden moisture of another's secretions must be avoided.

Plenty of sleep, an abundance of fresh air, day and night, all the sunlight possible, regular exercise, simple food, regular habits, these should be had and practiced all the time. But in time of influenza they are vital.

Lastly: do not worry!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, January 24

A DAY of much activity and interest, with much moving about or change or travel in connection with business as well as personal matters, is presaged from the lunar and mutual aspects. In both connections there may be pleasant journeys and much social liveliness; and these may be depended upon to promote the fortunes as well as general felicity. Domestic and affectional relations should flourish under Venus. There may be surprises in this direction.

Those whose birthdate it is are on the eve of a lively, profitable and also pleasant year, with some unforeseen changes and possibly unexpected developments in the personal or romantic affiliations. But be on guard against subtlety.

A child born on this day may be original, ingenius, creative mentally and be endowed with a wealth of social or artistic graces, fitting it for a successful and happy life.

How a French girl discovered her American lover will be told in tonight's broadcast.

It concerns the trials and tribulations of a French girl and an American youth who had fallen in love in France during the war.

The little French girl, believing her lover killed, has come to America as a Broadway star, and the young American, believing her lost, has become a successful and rather hard business man. MOTHERS' FUND HERE SHORT OF NEEDS

Failing to recommend an increase in the budget for the Mothers' Assistance fund, Gov. John S. Fisher holds out little hope for 341 widowed mothers and more than 1,000 fatherless children on the waiting list of pension applicants in Allegheny county.

It means that they must continue to depend on the county poor board's dole, or accept aid from charity.

Gov. Fisher recommends an appropriation of $2,750,000 for mothers' assistance for the next two years, according to a dispatch from Harisburg today. This is the same amount appropriated in 1927, which has been found inadequate for Allegheny county. There are 851 families receiving aid in this county.

"Following the high death rate from influenza and pneumonia the proportion of our new applications is increasing," said Mrs. Marcus Spiro, president of the Allegheny county board, "and this situation increases our responsibility. Our investigations show that a very large number of these recent applicants are eligible, but under the circumstances they will have a long wait unless some provision is made for an increase in the appropriation."

Miss Rose Porter, executive secretary of the board, today stated that 33 new applicants had been received in December and during the first 19 days of this month 23 mothers had applied, indicating the trend toward an average increase over last year.

P.R.R., Westinghouse Worker Shift Denied

Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, last night issued a statement from Philadelphia denying that the company is contemplating returning several hundred employes to Pittsburgh from where they were moved in the transfer of offices three years ago.

A similar rumor concerning the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company could not be confirmed last night. A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board, said he knew of no plans which would return a number of workers to this city.

Naval Officer Hurt In 5-Story Plunge

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 23.—(AP.)—Lieut. Peter F. Hunt, U. S. N., of the U. S. S. Idaho, was in a serious condition in a local hospital today as the result of a plunge from the seventh to the second floor of a hotel. Four bones of his back were fractured. He told officers he lost his balance as he leaned out of a window. His home is San Diego, Cal.

Churchill 'Familiar With Low Comedians'

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The educational importance of opera was under discussion in Commons. A Laborite interrupted Winston Churchill to ask if he did not know something about comic opera.

"I frequently come in contact with low comedians," the Chancellor retorted.

WOODEN SHOE TELLS WORLD THAT RUTH ROLAND AND BEN BARD WILL WED

By DOROTHY HERZOG.

(Copyright, 1929, By Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 23.

BILLIE DOVE and Irvin Willat supervised a nocturnal gathering at the breakfast Club 'tother eve. Most of the flicker alphabet arrived with their A B C's and danced the clock to those small A. M. hours. Ruth Roland and Ben Bard plotted with Billie to announce their engagement with informal formality. 'Twas managed with the aid of a wooden shoe. A waiter placed the shoe at Billie's plate and Billie reached in iit and pulled forth a slip on which was printed: "Wooden you like to know that Ruth Roland and Ben Bard are going to be married in June?" And everybody wood.

Ruth Roland.

Gene Hum rises to state that it pays to be athletic. Lookit Doug Fairbanks. Doug is two leaps ahead of the industry.

Jerry Miley, son of a wealthy father, who came to Hollywood some years ago to emote his way into the money ranks, is now selling stocks and bonds on the Los Angeles exchange.

Orville Caldwell, another ex-greasse painter, is doing ditto.

More Fashion Talk by Ree

Max Ree, costume director, says: Lilyan Tashman is not called the "best dressed woman in Hollywood" for no reason at all. I saw Lilyan at a party last night wearing a stunning all-white satin evening gown. It was deep decollete in the back with round neckline in front and jewel strap from shoulder to shoulder fastened on the left shoulder with a diamond pin. The bodice fitted loosely, blousing over the hips. It was tied in the back, giving the effect of two butterfly wings, one on either side of the deep decollete, finishing in two long, narrow scarf ends that almost touched the floor. The short skirt, straight and tube-like, had two circular panels hanging straight in very deep folds, short on the left side but deep on the right and half around, producing an extremely smart and uneven hemline. She wore white satin sandals with crystal straps.

Feminine Star On Polo Team

Lilyan Tashman has joined a new riding-polo club hereabouts, yclept the Saddle Club. Lilyan has a pash for hawses and polo and is organizing what will eventually be the first woman polo team. One thing can be said for the team to-be. The fillums teach femmes how to take falls gracefully.

Scheen Scribs: Marion Davies just returned from a jaunt to San Francisco...Tom Mix refusing to shop with a coupla Eves. Tom knows when to go home...Lila McComas, film emoter, fell off an elephant and was rewarded $15,000 by a local court...Tom Kennedy has gone back to his first love—prize fighting. Um, the Irisher, is going to promote the Mickey Walker-Wildcat Hudkins fistfest in July. There's money in gloves sometimes....Norma Talmadge and her mother are back home. At the Roosevelt Hostelry where Sophie Tucker is also stopping...and—that's all.

POLO, POODLES :-: AND GOLF :-: AMUSE FILM STARS

Charles "Buddy" Rogers, movie star, has gone in for polo. Here he is with his polo pony, which he has named "Buddy."

Louise Fazenda (do you know her without her screen makeup?) is pictured serving an impromptu repast to her braces of Scalyham poodles. "Dogs are such interesting things," comments the comedienne.

And here is Jean Arthur who finds time for golf—and neat sport clothes—between camera shots.

Mothers O. K. Ben, Bebe Pact

The engagement cycle has hit the village with full force. Announcement of Bebe Daniels' engagement to Ben Lyon stirred no end of comment. Curiously enough, the two met only recently. They liked each other from the first how-dee-do, but the mutual admiration society was really strengthened by the devotion of each to his and her mother. And both mothers are delighted with the match. Bebe met Ben shortly after she decided that she and Jack Pickford had come to the end of their friendship. This is the second time that Ben has been Jack's bad-luck-penny. When Marilyn Miller, the W. K. Broadway star, decided to divorce Pickford, it was believed by the Rialto-knowers that she and Ben would get "hitched." But Marilyn changed her mind. After all, free-lancing is rawther exciting. Ben reckoned by then that he was through with women insofar as ringing the left finger was concerned. And along came Bebe. Cheerio and best wishes.

Ben Lyon.

NIXON BOOKS ZIEGFELD SHOW

Ziegfeld's musical version of "The Three Musketeers" will open a week's engagement in the Nixon Monday. Dennis King is seen as the dashing D'Artagnan. There are two prima donnas—Yvonne D'Arle and Vivienne Segal. Seats for "The Three Musketeers" go on sale tomorrow morning.

Nick Long, Jr., featured male dancer in George White's "Manhattan Mary," starring Ed Wynn and coming to the Alvin Monday, boasts a unique collection of dancing shoes. He has 27 pairs of shoes in all that he has used from the first day he made his debut as a professional dancer. Ed Wynn is star of the show. The seat sale opens tomorrow morning.

Lita Grey Chaplin, former wife of the famous screen comedian, will headline the two-a-day Keith-Albee-Orpheum vaudeville bill in the Davis next week. She will be seen and heard in "A Musical Treat." She will be assisted by Rowland Becker and Pat Casey.

Thurston, the magician, is now on his third and last week in the Pitt. He will give a special charity matinee on Friday for the benefit of a destitute family.

Director to Film "Trader Horn" In Africa

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 23.—Adventure is staring Mary Nolan and Buck Jones straight in their faces, for these two are within the proverbial ace of being chosen for the leading roles in Metro's masterpiece, "Trader Horn." It is all set for Mary to be borrowed from Universal at a figure exactly twice that which she receives from the Laemmele organization. And Buck is Director "Woody" Dykes's idea of a hero. So if nothing upsets the apple-cart, Van Dyke and these two stars will sail for darkest Africa during February.

This will be no pleasure jaunt. The journey will entail all sorts of hardships. And the perils of the jungle will lurk on every side. The location is a thousand miles from anything resembling civilization. The neighbors will be the hugh gorillas of the Kivu district, and the wild men of Tanganyika. Director Van Dyke declared some time ago that the most important requisite of his leading man would be courage. So Buck Jones may be flattered in his selection.

Only three actors will make the trip. But there will be a physician and a technical crew. Sound equipment will be carried into the heart of Africa, and the weird noises imprisoned for the picture.

Carewe Directing "Evangeline" For Screen

Edwin Carewe, the director who filmed Leo Tolstoy's "Resurrection" for United Artists, now is engaged in picturizing for that company Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's "Evangeline." Dolores del Rio appears in the title role.

Al Jolson has composed a theme song "Evangeline."

Roland Drew, who played opposite Miss del Rio in "Ramona," appears in the new picture as Gabriel. John Holland, the young man brought forward by Director Henry King in the role opposite Eleanor Boardman in "She Goes to War," will be the Baptiste of "Evangeline."

Cat Vanquishes Ronald's Bulldog

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 23.—The "Bulldog Drummond" influence pervades the home of Ronald Coleman, who is starring in that picture. Some friends of Ronald's have presented him with an English bulldog. The first time it was taken for an airing the neighbor's cat chased the valiant pup all the way home. Ronald re-enacted a scene from "The Rescue."

Norma Talmadge Home from Europe

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 23.—Norma Talmadge is home from Europe and looks like the proverbial million dollars. Vacation time ended, Norma is busy studying lines and diction for her next picture, "The Sign on the Door." Joseph M. Schenk, who is Norma's husband as well as president of United Artists, has made arrangements for the star to study under Laura Hope Crews, the stage star. Teaching the silent drama its ABC's is becoming an important and remunerative line of endeavor for the big sisters of the theater.

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Basketball Rowdyism. Referees Threatened. Come-back of Mays. | McGraw Careful — Now Christner's Chances. Brothers in Hockey.

FLOOR OFFICIALS SEEK PROTECTION

FREE from internal strife and petty controversies that retarded its progress during the first two years of its existence as a professional basketball organization, the Allegheny County League faces a new menace, which, if not curbed in time, threatens to lead to the disruption of the loop. According to reports received from various reliable sources, all of the referees handling County League games are seriously considering withdrawing from the circuit unless the various managers adopt some measure by which officials will be assured protection from rowdy fans and players on and off the floor.

Leo Mackey

At present the best officials in the Tri-State Association, selected at the start of the season by the managers themselves, are working all County League games, and, according to unbiased supporters of the loop, their work as a whole has left no room for complaint. However, there are some fans and players who, it seems, have adopted an attitude of "win at any cost" and it is charged that they have gone so far as to threaten referees with violence. These teams, none of which has been able to win consistently, are the same clubs that virtually begged sponsors of the league to organize them this season.

THE league barely finished the season last winter, due to controversies and petty grievances among the officials of the circuit, and if measures are not taken to eliminate attacks on referees, the organization likely will find itself without capable arbiters. Columbus Temple, the home floor of the Miele-Franchinas, Enoch Rauhs and Reliance Life, appears to be the center of the disturbances. Things have reached such a bad state that very few referees will handle games at that hall.

Leo Mackey, Bill Griffith, Al Speer, Dave Mervis and Leo Carroll, rated among the most competent referees in this section of the state, are the officials who have threatened to abandon County League attractions unless they are assured protection from rowdyism. The situation is one that calls for immediate attention if possibly serious developments are to be averted.

BASEBALL fandom in general will follow with much interest the efforts of Carl Mays, veteran pitcher, to do a come-back as a member of the Giant staff this year. Mays has informed the New York club officials that he has entirely recovered from the attack of neuritis that put his pitching arm out of commission last year, and that he will be among the first Giant players to report for spring training at San Antonio.

Since receiving this word from Mays, Manager John McGraw says he is more confident than ever that the 36-year-old hurler will be able to give his team some valuable service. McGraw hopes for a repetition of the success that rewarded the chance he took on Jack Scott when the Cincinnati club discarded that pitcher as worthless.

Carl Mays

THE Scott case wasn't the only thing that McGraw had in mind when he picked up the cast-off Mays. He was guarding against the possibility of another mistake such as he made when he left Art Nehf get away in 1926. Nehf, like Mays, was a victim of neuritis. The Reds also dropped the lefthander, whereupon Nehf signed with the Cubs. He proved good enough last year to win 13 games against only seven defeats, and he ranked third in the National League in effectiveness, only Dazzy Vance and Fred Blake ranking ahead of him. If Mays comes through it will be the third time that the Cincinnati club has lost a good pitcher by being too hasty in its judgment on supposedly dead arms, as it was the Red management that turned Scott loose prior to repeating McGraw's blunder in the case of Nehf.

PRESIDENT BARNEY DREYFUSS, of the Pirates, received notice yesterday that a meeting of the National League has been called for February 5 in New York. The need for such a session is not clear to some of the magnates, as there is only the schedule to be considered, and under the conditions it was believed that the spring meeting would be dispensed with this year.

As far as the schedule is concerned the league can do nothing, as the action of the committee appointed to draw up the slate is final. For this reason, and because there is no other business calling for attention, the American League decided not to hold a spring meeting, and it was thought that the National would do likewise, particularly as there is no danger of a hitch in Boston now that the application of the Braves for a Sunday license has been reported favorably out of the councilmanic committee to which it was referred.

FIGHT fans could rest assured of a humdinger of a scrap in New York next Friday night if Jack Sharkey and K. O. Christner could be depended upon to battle as vigorously as they talk. Sharkey always has been conceded to occupy a class of his own as a pre-fight orator, but in this instance he has had to hustle in order to get as good as an even break.

K. O. Christner

For Christner, instead of being abashed by the skyscrapers or awed into silence at the prospect of making his first ring appearance in the world's greatest fight center, proceeded to pop off with as much self-assurance as Sharkey himself ever showed and to give Gotham at large plenty of inside advance information as to what he would do to the sailor Friday night.

JUDGING from the form shown to date, entirely apart from the extra touches contributed by the press agents, if Friday night's affair were turned into a talking match it probably would result in a good draw. However, Christner's friends find it difficult to share confidence of that fighter himself that he will get as good results in the ring as he has in the verbal competition. In the first place, the fact that Sharkey showed up poorly in his latest bout is no indication that he will be off color again this time, and if he is in form he will have a considerable edge on Christner in all-around ability. And in the second place, the wily individuals behind the Sharkey-Stribling match in Florida are not going to have that show rendered any less attractive than it already is, if that may be considered possible, through a defeat for Sharkey.

IF THERE is any way in which a victory for the sailor can be engineered from behind the scenes it is not likely to be overlooked if such tactics are found necessary. Signing Christner to meet Stribling if he should happen to defeat the sailor Friday night was probably only a bluff to allay suspicion in connection with the Sharkey-Christner bout.

Tex Rickard's successors no doubt feel that they have spent too much time and energy in trying to steam up the Sharkey-Stribling thing to allow it to be undone by the making of a change at this late date. Sharkey and Stribling themselves do not mean a great deal, and Stribling and Christner would mean even less. If the promoters

Perry	3	2	.600

Three teams, Peabody, Fifth Avenue and South are tied for the lead in Section One and South Hills continues to rule alone in Section Two as the results of the City League contests of yesterday. South Hills High was able to retain its hold on the top rung of the ladder while idle, for Allegheny High upset the hopes of Perry High by toppling the district rivals in a sensational extra-period tussle.

SOUTH SHOWS POWER

In Section One, Fifth Avenue High proved itself to be 5 points better than Westinghouse, winning, 28 to 23. The Silver Lakers gave the Uptowners more of a battle than was generally expected, making the going tough at times.

South furnished added proof that its team will be in the titular running all the way by whipping Schenley High, 35 to 22, and removing the Belleflelders from the top runners. Washabaugh's team showed fine co-ordination of attack and a good enough defense.

Peabody High did not have a walkaway with Ralston, but won out by a comfortable score, 34 to 26.

The Perry-Allegheny tussle was the classic of the day. The lead see-sawed back and forth throughout the contest, with neither five enjoying any real advantage. Allegheny had greater strength under the pressure of the extra period, however, and won out with 4 points margin.

WAYNESBURG BEATEN

Monessen High stepped to the front rank in Section Five of the W. P. I. A. L. by turning in a 17-15 victory over Earl Zook's crack Waynesburg High quintet. The defeat ended a winning streak for the Zookmen which had reached a total of eight games. Monessen led from the start and was never behind.

In Section Ten, Uniontown surprised Scottdale, conqueror of Greensburg a week ago, by winning, 27 to 18. Bill Evans' Braddock High passers took North Braddock into camp, 17-14, in a Section Eight fracas, and Ambridge strengthened its position in Section Four by beating Leetsdale, 25 to 11.

In other games Butler High handed New Castle a 21-14 setback at New Castle; Charleroi dropped Carmichaels High floormen, 25-19, and Crafton was bumped by Coraopolis High, 28-11, at Coraopolis.

DORMONT FALLS

Stowe Township High smothered McKees Rocks, 40 to 19; Carnegie upset Dormont High, 32 to 24, at Carnegie; Swissvale nosed out Sewickley, 29 to 21, and Edgewood High barely defeated Wilkinsburg, 24 to 20.

Turtle Creek Union won over East Pittsburgh, 20 to 16, and New Kensington stopped Verona High, 30 to 23. Latrobe set back West Newton, 21-17.

WANER BROTHERS RETURN CONTRACTS UNSIGNED

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

ALTHOUGH they are not regarded in the light of holdouts, the Waner boys of Pirate fame, it became known today, are dissatisfied with the contracts tendered them by the Pirate officials. Both Paul and Lloyd are reported to have returned their documents unsigned.

Paul, the older brother, is said to have worked under a five-figure contract last summer, with Brother Lloyd drawing a substantial amount beneath this classification. Each was supposed to have received big boosts at the conclusion of the 1927 season when Paul led the league with a mark of .380 and received the valuable-player prize. Lloyd batted .355 in his first major-league year, was considered a sensation, he, too, getting a big boost in salary.

At the conclusion of the 1927 race and world series the Waner boys went into vaudeville for something like eight weeks. They were offered stage contracts last fall, but decided to forego this work in the interest of baseball. It is possible that they are offering their action in this matter as an argument for higher baseball pay.

Close friends of the two little stars in Pittsburgh, while admitting that Paul and Lloyd are after more money, are convinced that the two Oklahomans will come to an agreement with their employers before the situation reaches the holdout stage.

All players are required to be signed before they go to spring training camp. Paul and Lloyd would be real holdouts in case they do not go to camp next month.

GENEVA TURNS BACK DUKE FIVE HERE

By JESS CARVER.

The boys who should know are willing to bet you 5 to 1 that Doc Carlson's Pitt Panthers take Carnegie Tech for a ride tonight. The contest between the city rivals in the Tartan gym will give a pretty fair indication as to whether or not the Panthers have recovered from the booting around they took at the hands of West Virginia last week or whether they are going to be an in-and-out club this year. As I said before, the boys around town will give you a chance to make one bring back five, taking the Skibos.

Ken Loeffler.

Pitt has been taking it easy this week in preparation for the game. The boys looked drawn and tired against West Virginia, so the learned doctor has been giving them the rest cure. Besides, he is going to start a shuffled lineup, giving some of his regulars a chance to hold the splinters in place on the bench.

PITT HOLDS EDGE

Pitt swept the three-game series with Tech last year and started off on the right foot this by taking the Plaid-clad basketeers, 41-14, in the first game of the season's three 10 days back.

Willie Arture and Rube Anderson are to start at forward and center, respectively, tonight, replacing Paul Zehfuss and Lester Cohen. These gents are not being displaced because of any weakness they have shown, but rather because they have both been ill and need the rest. Besides, Rube and Willie need the work.

Just perhaps, Capt. Jerry Wunderlich may see the start of the game from beside Doc on the old woodwork.

GENEVA TOPS DUKES

Geneva College stepped into a well nigh impregnable position, as leader in the Tri-State Conference last night as it served Chick Davies' Dukes a 22-19 trimming on the Bluff. The Covenanters played very good basketball as they turned in their difficult victory. It takes good basketball to beat the Dukes here at home, or any place else for that matter.

Geneva beat Duquesne last night because it had a better team. They passed better and played a generally aggressive game. Duquesne wasted too much time in getting the ball down to the firing line, a costly blunder. Besides, the Red and Blue defense was unable to cope with the barrage of baskets that dropped from the hands of Merriman, Ransom and Friedman in the final half.

The ball game was a close one from gun to gun. At the half, Geneva held a 10-9 advantage. During the middle part of the second period, field goals by young Ben Lubic put the Dukes ahead 2 points.

NO, THIS IS NOT FEEDING TIME AT THE ZOO

MERELY THE PITT PANTHERS IN ACTION

K. O. Christner

JUDGING from the form shown to date, entirely apart from the extra touches contributed by the press agents, if Friday night's affair were turned into a talking match it probably would result in a good draw. However, Christner's friends find it difficult to share confidence of that fighter himself that he will get as good results in the ring as he has in the verbal competition. In the first place, the fact that Sharkey showed up poorly in his latest bout is no indication that he will be off color again this time, and if he is in form he will have a considerable edge on Christner in all-around ability. And in the second place, the wily individuals behind the Sharkey-Stribling match in Florida are not going to have that show rendered any less attractive than it already is, if that may be considered possible, through a defeat for Sharkey.

MONTY MONTGOMERY

Coach Carlson's urgent call for more weight for his Pitt basketball team brought out Ray Montgomery, football center and former Wheeling (W. Va.) scholastic star, as a candidate for one of the guard positions. Monty reported for practice just in time to get in on the regular weekly "feed." He was an all-state guard while playing for Wheeling High School.

GOLDENSONS TO OPPOSE ROSENBLUMS TONIGHT

By JULIUS LEVIN.

THE South Side Market House, the scene of numerous thrilling professional basketball struggles, will serve as a mecca for the followers of the popular winter indoor sport tonight when the famed Cleveland Rosenblum-Celtics, winners of the first-half American League championship, engage the Goldensons of the Allegheny County League in the fourth game on the Forest City team's long exhibition schedule. The Goldensons, fresh from their brilliant victory over the Miele-Franchinas in the opening game of the second round in the Allegheny County League, are bent on making an impressive showing against the big leaguers and will be out tonight to show their form against the invaders.

Art McGuirk.

Interest in the contest has been high for several weeks and as a result preparations have been made to handle a capacity crowd at the popular South Side basketball auditorium.

The presence of three former members of the New York Celtics, former professional champions of the world, has added considerable color to the Cleveland entry in the American League this winter and as a result the Forest City passers are a big attraction in every city in which they appear.

Those who have followed the fortunes of the Original Celtics will be out to see Joe Lapchick, Henry (Dutch) Dehnert and Pete Barry in action against the Goldensons. These three stars have been prominently identified with professional basketball for a number of years and they are prime favorites in this section. Other well-known stars in the Cleveland lineup are Dave Kerr, Carl Husta and Rich Deighan.

Against this attractive array of talent the Goldensons will send such local favorites as Carl (Moon) Klinzing, Art McGuirk, Oscar (Hoots) Klinzing, Eddie Siegle, Monk Kotchell and Norm McVickers.

VANITIES IN PRELIM

Besides the big attraction, the Goldenson Vanities, one of the best girl teams in this section of the country, will meet the Canonsburg girls. The preliminary game will start at 8 o'clock.

The present tour of the Rosies is one of the longest ever attempted by an American Profesional League club. The Rosies play nine games in the tri-state district prior to invading the South. They defeated Cumberland in the opening game on Sunday and added the Altoona Big Five to their list of victims on Monday.

ROSENBLUMS WIN

The Cleveland Rosenblum-Celtics won their third consecutive game of their barnstorming trip through this section last night by defeating the Homestead All-Stars at Homestead, 29 to 18.

Carl Husta, veteran guard of the Rosies was the star of the game, dropping in four goals from the field. The All-Stars rallied in the second half after a poor start and gave the visitors strenuous opposition. The lineup:

Rosenblums—29.		Homestead—18.
Barry	F	Shimko
Shisler	F	Minnick
Deighan	C	Losman
Husta	G	Gubby
Dehnert	G	Pfeffer

Score by periods:

Rosenblums	20	9—29
Homestead	5	13—18

Substitutions—Rosenblums: Deighan, Schrey; Homestead: Pappert, McGill, Jacko. Field goals—Barry, Lopachick 2, Husta 4, Dehnert 2, Deighan, Schrey, Minnick, Shimko 2, Losman, Pfeffer, Pappert, Jacko. Fouls—Rosenblums 7 out of 10; Homestead, 4 out of 10. Time of periods —10 minutes. Referee—Leo Mackey.

DRIBBLES

The Morrys of Braddock will attempt to sew up the first half championship of the Pittsburgh and Ohio Valley League tonight when they meet the Greenfield club at the Braddock Knights of Columbus Hall. If the Morrys show the same class that characterized their victory over the Mangans Monday night, Max Berkowitz's passers stand an excellent chance of clinching the title tonight.

After meeting the Goldensons at the Market House tonight, the Cleveland Rosenblum-Celtics will leave for Uniontown where they are scheduled to oppose the Ramola Five, formerly the Five Horsemen,

BUCS READY FOR RANGER INVASION TOMORROW

By CARL W. SHATTO.

MANAGER ODIE CLEGHORN put his Pirate skaters through a brisk one-hour workout at Duquesne Garden last night in preparation for their battle with the world champion New York Rangers here tomorrow. Toots Holway, who contracted an attack of tonsilitis in New York Sunday and who has been under a doctor's care since that time, obtained the physician's O. K. in time to participate in the drill and will be available for action tomorrow night, but Frankie Frederickson still is "on the shelf" with a deep gash in his cheek, and indications are that he will not be able to help the Bucs in their fight for a third straight win.

MILKS AT CENTER

Assuming that Frederickson will not be able to start, Manager Cleghorn sent Hib Milks to center in last night's drill and moved Harold Cotton, left wing, from the spare to the starting line. Milks at center and Darragh and Cotton at the wings probably will be the starting combination tomorrow.

The Rangers, who are to arrive tomorrow morning, will come here in a position befitting world champs. The New York skaters not only are leading the American Group, but are setting the pace for the entire league, and they are primed to give local fans an exhibition of hockey at its best. Both the Rangers and the Pirates favor a fast, open game—a style of game that is conducive to much action and much scoring—and several goals probably will be needed to assure either team a victory.

BUCS IN FAST STRIDE

The locals are one of the toughest clubs in the league for the Rangers to beat. The Bucs held the Champions to two deadlocks in three previous meetings this season; in downing Detroit, 1-0, and the Americans, 2-0, on successive nights the locals hit their best stride of the campaign, and they are an even-money choice to turn in a triumph at the expense of the New Yorkers and even the season score. Improved team play has brought the Bucs 18 goals in their last 10 games, and in none of these games have they been held scoreless. Frederickson is the main cog in the combination plays of the starting forward line. He figured in three scores in the last two games, and his absence undoubtedly would work a great hardship on the Bucs tomorrow.

TEX'S OLD PAL TO REVIVE 20-ROUND BATTLES

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

A NEW Goldfield, of boxing fame, is in the making in Nevada, and all because the Boulder Dam project is going through.

Boom times have come over the community, land values have soared, resort hotels are to be reared skyward and there is a general hustle and bustle that is a reminder of the old gold rush times.

If Tex Rickard had lived, he likely would have been drawn "back home" to play a part in the mammoth extravaganza, which will have as its highlight the staging of a 20-round battle between Mickey Walker and Ace Hudkins for the middleweight championship on July 4. Tex's old pal, one George Wingfield, one of Nevada's richest mining men, is the guiding spirit behind the big sports carnival that is to herald the growth of the locality to the world.

The big doings are slated for Las Vegas, Nev., 30 miles from the site of the dam. Wingfield and his friends will pull the strings. It was Wingfield who put up the big end of the stack of gold that brought the Gans-Nelson fight to Goldfield, with Rickard earning his first fame as the promoter. It was Wingfield, also, who helped to make the Johnson-Jeffries fight at Reno a standout. He is, and for years has been, one of the richest mining men in Nevada. Even back in Rickard's day he owned the best paying mine in all that country. Money is no object when he goes into any promotion.

IN addition to planning the Walker-Hudkins fight over the 20-round route, Wingfield has in mind another meeting between George Godfrey and Paulino Uzcudun, this time over the 20-round route and also a Sammy Mandell-Jimmy McLarnin 20-rounder with the lightweight title at stake. Such a series of derby distance affairs certainly would serve to recall the halcyon days of the ring game in California and neighboring Far-Western states.

Las Vegas is in a desert spot halfway between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City, but it would cease to be a desert spot while these big fistic affairs held the spotlight. They would do more to advertise the territory than all the dams they could build out that way. Wouldn't ol' Tex just glory in such a situation?

THE proposed amendment to the boxing law of the state, sponsored by the A. A. U. and introduced by Senator Frank J. Harris, seeking to take control of amateur boxers and promoters out of the hands of the State Athletic Commission and thus exempt the amateurs from paying the 5 per cent state tax, reads:

"The provision of this act shall not prohibit any duly constituted organization or association, organized for a lawful purpose, from having boxing, sparring and wrestling matches and exhibitions in connection with entertainments, when such matches or exhibitions are conducted not for profit; nor shall this act apply to or be construed to regulate or to impose any tax upon the admissions received from purely amateur boxing, sparring and wrestling matches in which contestants are engaged without pay or pecuniary reward.

"The intent and purpose of this act is to allow and regulate professional boxing, sparring and wrestling matches in which contestants are engaged for pay or pecuniary reward and tax the admissions received from such matches."

Now, that is all very explicit and to the point, but it sidesteps entirely the commission's argument, which is that shows at which admissions are charged should be taxed, whether amateur or professional. The proposed amendment says: "Nor shall this act apply to or be construed to regulate or to impose any tax upon the admissions received from purely amateur boxing, sparring or wrestling matches in which the contestants are engaged without pay or pecuniary reward."

THE amendment cleverly beclouds the issue, which is that the commission does not seek to tax the amateur boxers, but the amateur promoters, and it is not the amateur boxers, but the amateur promoters, who are kicking and are behind the movement to have the law changed to suit their purpose. It is understood that amateur boxers are to be engaged "without pay or pecuniary reward," although this is not always the case. But try to get the amateur show promoters or clubs to stage their shows "without pay or pecuniary reward."

The whole fuss that is now before the Legislature has been caused by the fact that the promoters and A. A. U. officials, in their customary big-hearted and altruistic manner, object to sharing even 5 per cent of their intake with the state and are using the poor kids who do the fighting for watches and medals as a shield in the battle to win their point.

The commission's fight, I repeat, is not with the amateur boxers, as one might be led to believe from some of the impassioned pleas made in the name of fair play, but with the men who exploit and profit from the endeavors of the youngsters.

Alexanders Silent On Divorce Case

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 23.—(INS.)—Efforts of reporters to interview both Grover Alexander and his wife, following her filing of a divorce against her husband, have proved futile. Neither has thus far been reached for a statement on the proceedings.

As definitely as could be learned, the Alexanders had been living together as recently as a week ago and their friends report they appeared to be perfectly happy then.

The couple had been sweethearts when youngsters, but a rift separated them for 10 years. A dozen years ago, they patched up their troubles and were married in 1917. There are no children.

Mrs. Alexander's special charge is extreme cruelty and asks a large part of her husband's salary check as pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals.

SPORT COMMENT

By JAMES J. LONG

did not feel assured of a Sharkey victory Friday night they would not allow the bout to go through.

NO FEWER than six sets of brothers are now performing in the National Hockey League. The latest addition to the list was marked up when George Mantha joined Les Canadiens. George is a brother of Sylvio Mantha, who, until George came along, held the distinction of being the only Italian player ever to make the grade in big league hockey.

The Boucher brothers still lead, as there are three of them—Frank, of the Rangers; George, of Ottawa, and Eddie, though little is heard now of the last named, who started as a sub forward with the Americans.

Frank Boucher

THE only instances of two brothers playing on the same team are found on the Rangers and the Boston Bruins. Bill and Bun Cook perform for the Rangers and Eddie Shore and his younger brother are on the roster of the Hub outfit. Other brothers in the big league are separated. Paul Thompson is with the Rangers and Tiny is with the Bruins, while the Carson brothers are divided between Toronto and Les Canadiens. Though several old hockey names thus continue to live through the arrival of new members of the families, some other familiar names are in danger of dying out. Dune Monro, who ranked for years among the topliners of the ice sport, has definitely retired after a warning that further playing would endanger his health. It is said that Frank Nighbor, of Ottawa, now on the injured list, may give up the game at the close of the season, and Cy Denenny, of Boston, is another of the old guard who has about reached the end of his string.

RICKARD and the RING

By JACK DEMPSEY,
World's Greatest Ring Idol

The Gans-Nelson Fight

OF ALL the stories that Tex Rickard used to tell when in a reminiscent mood, his favorite undoubtedly was the one about the fight in 1906 at Goldfield, Nev., between Joe Gans and Battling Nelson, and how he was pushed into the limelight in very much an accidental way.

"The boys out there got to talking about the town needing a little publicity," Tex related. "One night while they were at it somebody—maybe I was the feller—said:

"'Why can't we put on one of those championship fight things here?'

"Well, nobody got excited about it—not just then. But we'd get the San Francisco papers and read how Nelson wanted to knock the block off Gans and how Gans said Nelson would be soft pickings for him. Everybody out on the coast wanted to see those boys get together and Jimmy Goffroth was angling for the bout and it looked as if he finally would land it.

"But just about then the fellers in Goldfield got to talkin' again about the town needing publicity and so I pointed out that if we could raise a purse that was big enough to coax the boys into coming to Goldfield we'd get the publicity all right. The boys thought it over and then we all chipped in and when we got through we had enough to enable us to put up a purse of $30,000.

HOW IT STARTED

"'Now,' said one of the boys who was kind of bossing things, 'We got to have a committee to handle this thing.'

"'Sure,' said the others.

"I didn't have much to say. I wasn't doing much talking in those days and I was just a young feller and so I just sat there with my chair tilted against the wall while the boys were proceeding to divvy among themselves all the nice sounding jobs.

"The loudest talker decided he wanted to be master of ceremonies—and he got himself the job. Somebody wanted to be this and another feller wanted to be that—president or chairman and gosh knows what else.

"Well, after a little time the boys got themselves all decked out with fancy sounding jobs and then they happened to take notice that I was still around.

"'Hey,' one of them yelled, 'here's Texie and we ain't fixed him up with a job.'

"'I don't want any job—I'll be just a chipper-in,' I said.

"'That won't do,' they shot back. 'Everybody that's put in money gets some kind of a job. What'll we give Texie, boys?'

NAMED PROMOTER

"That kind of stopped them. All the tony offices had been passed out. Seemed like as if no job was left for me. Then one of the fellers suddenly remembered that somebody had to do the negotiating with the fighters and do all the hard work if the match was made. Just sort of wouldn't do for one of those fellows with hifalutin' titles to be wasting his time doing any hard work.

"We'll make Texie the promoter—what say, boys?" and the answers elected me unanimously to the job that nobody else wanted. I wasn't so hot about it myself because I wasn't so good at writing telegrams then and I didn't know anything about fighters and conditions and terms and all that.

"But there wasn't any ducking that job they wished on me accidental-like. I just had to go ahead and find out who were the managers of Gans and Nelson and where I could reach them. Then I wired them and we kind of corresponded and pretty soon the match was made.

BECOMES FAMOUS

"I signed my name to the telegrams because the other boys didn't want to do the dirty work. They were saving themselves for the time when the reporters came around looking for the swagger fellows in our outfit.

"Well, of course, nobody knew at first who all the other fellows were. All they knew was that a crazy feller in Goldfield had offered a couple of lightweights $30,000 for a fight—the biggest guarantee ever made in ring history up to that time.

"Pretty soon I got my name in the papers. Then a couple of pictures. After a while Gans and Nelson arrived; so did their managers. They didn't know anybody else except that 'crazy Rickard.' So they looked me up. And then the newspapermen began to arrive.

"When that happened the fellers with the swell jobs in our outfit went down to meet the train—or went to the hotels to meet the boys. But the boys just didn't seem to care much about meeting the master of ceremonies or the president or the chairman; they all were looking for me.

"They just didn't pay any attention at all to the other boys; they kept trailing me around and writing pieces about me and when the fight was over the fellers who had voted themselves into those swell-sounding jobs hardly had been mentioned in the papers, while I, pushed into a job that nobody else wanted, had been given the $500,000 worth of publicity.

"Ain't it funny how things work out?"

NURMI CASE PROTESTOR FIRED

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(AP.)—The athletic committee of the Second Masonic District, through its chairman, George Keiser, has repudiated the action taken by its secretary, Jack Harris, in writing an open letter of protest concerning Paavo Nurmi to the Amateur Athletic Union.

The letter charged Nurmi had been "influenced by a man or men with power in official track circles" to shift his entry from the Masonic games here Saturday night to the Boston K. of C. meet the same date.

In a note of explanation and apology addressed to Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U., to whom Harris' letter also was sent, Keiser apologized for Harris' act and said the latter's resignation as secretary of the committee had been requested and received.

Ferris was in New Haven and it could not be learned from him whether a meeting which had been called for today to look into Harris' charges would now be held.

hands of Bellevue, 18 to 12, while Merriman and Ransom pulled the game out of the fire with fine shots.

MERRIMAN STARS

Young Merriman, who has been a consistently good player for three years, was the star of the game, offering for the edification of a fine crowd as fine an exhibition of defensive play as has been seen in Pittsburgh all year.

Capt. Howard Emerick's fine work at the foul line, when he dropped in six fouls in a row, kept Geneva out in front during the early part of the struggle. Then Merriman and Ransom took over the scoring burden.

Duquesne was far from disgraced in its defeat, if that is any solace.

The lineup:

Battle of Sugar Bowl On; Tariff Cuts, Raises Urged

By B. C. FORBES

THE battle of the sugar bowl is on.

Fifty witnesses are appearing in Washington this week before the Ways and Means Committee's hearing into the tariff on sugar.

Home beet and cane growers demand an increased rate, certain other interests oppose any change whatsoever, while Cuban interests would like to have their product come in free instead of being given a preferential rate of 1.76 as compared with the regular rate of 2.20 cents a pound.

That Cuban sugar will be allowed in free is most unlikely—in fact, entirely out of the question, according to those in intimate touch with what's what. If any sugar tariff changes are made, they are certain to be in the upward direction. It may be, however, that the decision will be to leave things exactly as they are, except that legislation may be recommended placing a limit upon duty-free imports from the Philippines.

DOMESTIC interests count upon President Hoover's support in their demands that they be given sufficient protection to enable them to develop from the status a minor industry to a big, strong, healthy industry, thus enabling the United States to approach in time towards the self-supporting stage sugarwise.

But serious objections to this are raised. Higher tariff levies, it is claimed, would benefit the Philippines, Porto Rico and Hawaii far more than domestic producers and would increase the American family's total sugar bill ridiculously more than the amount which would actually go to the pockets of home producers.

Also, it is emphasized that Cuba's enormous increase in her production was brought about at the most urgent behest of the United States during the World War and that therefore, it would be entirely unfair for us to take any action which would make conditions in Cuba worse than they already are. Over-production has been so serious that grievous losses have been sustained since the war, and even without additional tariff obstacles it is inevitable that a great many of the smaller and weaker Cuban growers suffer annihilation.

SINCE sugar was discussed in this column several weeks ago, letters have poured in, indicating that interest in the subject is keen and widespread. One large manufacturer whose product is not associated in the slightest in the public's mind with sugar tells me that, were the wishes of domestic growers granted, his profits would be cut down fully one-and-a-quarter-million dollars a year and that, because of the fixed price at which the product is sold, it would be impossible to recover this loss.

On the other hand, domestic growers paint impressive pictures of what could be and, in their judgment, should be done to build up sugar growing were what they call "proper" protection afforded. Few other steps could be taken by the United States government, they contend, which would do half as much to provide farm relief in various states. In addition to stimulating beet growing enormously, they claim that cane growing would be developed rapidly and successfully, especially in Louisiana and Florida, where millions are now being invested in fields and plants.

REGINALD DYKERS, vice president and general manager of the American Sugar Cane League, writes in part in reference to a recent statement in this column by H. H. Pike, Jr.:

"Mr. Pike's statements as to Hawaii and Porto Rica reaping the greatest return from an increased tariff falls to the ground in the face of the fact that they have substantially reached the limit of their production, whereas in the mainland United States the farmers have an almost limitless opportunity to put land into beets and cane, not only unused land, but some of the land they are now producing surplus wheat on, with all the attendant troubles thereof. McNary-Haugenism, etc. It seems quite logical for us to advocate the transfer of some of the wheat land to beets and cane, as long as there is an enormous home market for sugar, instead of continuing to make surplus wheat. But sugar has to bring a reasonable price to permit this. As for the Philippines, the amount of sugar they may freely send into the United States should be limited to, say, 500,000 tons."

FROM another letter, from Minnesota:

"Mexican labor is indispensable to the success of sugar beet culture, because no other available labor will weed and cultivate beets—a hard and backbreaking job. The Mexicans come here in the spring and return in the fall. They are peaceable and hardworking. They take no man's job away, for no white man can be hired to do what they do. Without them the entire sugar beet industry, so beneficial to Minnesota farmers, would have to be abandoned."

SO you see the sugar bowl has many sides.

STOCKS JUMP AS MORE GOLD IS SENT U. S.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—(A.P.)—One of the strongest buying movements of the new year carried dozens of important issues into new high ground on the stock market today, as bullish enthusiasm was stimulated to fever pitch by announcement of another gold shipment from London.

While bankers stated that Federal Reserve brokers' loans will show a new record above $5,400,000,000 when announced after the close of the market tomorrow, traders were less disposed to worry over brokers' loans than in previous weeks, as the banks have been paying off their indebtedness at the reserve institutions, and a higher rediscount rate is regarded as highly unlikely, with gold again starting to flow from London.

The gold shipment of $5,000,000 comes upon the heels of a shipment of $2,500,000, the first time since autumn, announced yesterday. The fact that Montague Norman, governor of the Bank of England, sailed for New York today, gave rise to reports that he would confer with Federal Reserve officials as to means to stem the flow of the yellow metal in this direction.

An outgoing gold movement which would exceed in volume the open market offerings in London would be regarded with misgivings in London, and Federal Reserve authorities are understood to oppose a flow of gold to New York which would embarrass the Bank of England or start another orgy of stock speculation.

High grade stocks throughout the list developed impressive strength. Commission house customers rooms were crowded, and the public was said to be in the market again in a large way.

Chemical shares leaped forward, Union Carbide mounting 13 points to a record price at 222, but falling back to 214½. Allied Chemical jumped 10 points to a new high at 281. Adams Express sold up 13 points.

U. S. Steel mounted about 2 points, fell back 4, then again started forward. General Motors (old) went forward more than 4 points. Greene Cananea led the coppers with a spurt of over 8 points, and American Smelting mounted more than 3. International Nickel surged ahead on announcement that stock of more than 88 per cent of the voting power of Mond Nickel had been deposited under the merger plan.

U Utilities developed impressive strength. International Telephone, Electric Power and Light, Consolidated Gas, Columbia Gas and Electric and Brooklyn Union Gas mounted more than 7 points, while Delaware and Hudson, New York Central and St. Louis Southwestern climbed 3 points and more.

National Cash Register, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, Johns Manville and Montgomery Ward were among issues climbing from 3 to 8 points. Great Northern Ore was in demand on reports of the discovery of a new ore body in Minnesota.

There were few soft spots. Midland Steel Products preferred droped over 8 points to 250, but recovered to 255. Wright Aero sold off about 3 points.

Call money again renewed at 6 per cent, but the tone was firmer than yesterday, when it was available in the outside as low as 5 per cent time money remained firm.

The day's news was largely bullish, including the long predicted rise of ¼ of a cent in copper prices to 17 cents per pound, domestic. S. S. Kresge Company declared a stock dividend of 50 per cent. Iron Age reported that further advances in steel scrap prices and pressure for shipments on finished steel stand out as market developments of the week, although its composite finished steel price remained unchanged. The composite price for pig iron sagged 4 cents to $18.42 a ton.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—After breaking all top price records for the season, wheat reacted today as a result of heavy profit-taking sales. Throughout the day transactions in wheat futures were on a big scale, chiefly because of apprehension about the effect of adverse conditions for the new domestic crop. Toward the last, however, indications pointed to considerable change in trade sentiment and there was a good deal of talk that recent advances in wheat values had been sufficient for at least the time being.

Faced by lively purchasing and by scarcity of offerings, the wheat market here advanced fast today after downturns at the start. Initial weakness was succeeded to nearly complete failure of Liverpool wheat quotations to reflect yesterday's advances this side of the Atlantic.

Rapid forestalling out of buying in the Chicago market, however, soon sent prices upward, particular notice being taken of word that wheat in Western Kansas was frozen and that with low temperatures prevailing the ground was bare in the Western main wheat belt.

Other reports tending to hoist wheat values were to the effect that in various places snowfalls had melted into sheets of ice, which have sealed up the fields, preventing proper ventilation. The inference was drawn that this could not help but be injurious, although the full measure of the damage might not be apparent for several weeks.

EVENING News and Views SUN-TELEGRAPH Local Industrials Firm MARKETS

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Canadian Pacific Halts Reaction.

Stocks bolted up at the opening today but met a lot of selling in the second hour which had the effect of toning down the early enthusiasm but did not impair the general sentiment to any great extent. The market was "touchy" however, and bears were feeling out the situation in many directions, looking for air-pockets which might be utilized to bring about a general reaction. The market held well in the face of this uncertainty and a noticeable change occurred shortly after mid-day when Canadian Pacific, one of the aristocrats of the carrier group, started forward under the influence of heavy buying which reached proportions of as high as 5,000 shares to a transaction. National Cash Register, of the recent favorites in the industrial division, was in demand all day and failure of the stock to hesitate when realizing sales increased added materially to the feeling that the market will be able to take all normal selling for the next few days, at least, as long as the money market maintains the present level of 6 per cent for call loans. High grade market leadership asserted itself following the upturn in Canadian Pacific, and forged ahead and moved higher and there was good buying in Westinghouse and General Electric and some of the highly rated utilities. This were a disappointment to their followers, but some of the close observers professed to see in the current heaviness of the petroleum section a preliminary to another upward movement in the whole group. Some of this opinion is based on the recent formation of two huge investment trusts which will deal in oil and allied securities. Kresge was an outstanding feature of the store group, reflecting a 50 per cent stock dividend declared today.

Proceeds of the sale will be used to pay off present indebtedness and for expansion purposes. The company has outstanding $240,000 of 6 per cent bonds, due in 1932, and $350,000 of notes representing funds loaned by officers of the company for working capital, payment of which is not to be demanded until May 28, this year. These notes bear interest at 6 per cent. Carnegie Metals stock has been selling on the local exchange recently around $20 a share.

Copper Reaches 17 Cents.

The price of copper at New York and abroad has been advanced ½ cent to 17 cents a pound delivered in domestic market and 17¼ cents a pound c. i. f. Hamburg, Havre and London. Foreign sales this morning were in good volume at the new levels.

Copper Price Prospects.

Based on demand and consumption it would be easy for copper producers to mark the metal up to 20c a pound, but the price would not be permanent. The opinion of the leading producers is that copper should not go much higher than 17c a pound. The copper industry is well regulated and consumption is taking care of all the metal produced. A much higher market might mean excess production and that would mark the end of stable conditions. The copper companies are making big money with copper selling around 17c a pound. The best guess is that copper may go fractionally higher, but not to a level unsatisfactory to consumers.

Steel Market Strong.

The Iron Trade Review says: "Deliveries now the paramount consideration of finished steel markets, and with specifications for many lines exceeding shipments this condition promises to become accentuated. Requirements of the automotive industry for steel sheets, strip and bars and of carbuilders for plates are especially pronounced. Through Pittsburgh and Youngstown district sheet mills are operating at practical capacity, considerable tonnage, especially for the higher finishes, is backing up. Some Mahoning Valley makers of automobile sheets are booked into the last week of February. Four to five weeks is the best dating some Pittsburg producers of strip can now offer. Last week's specifications for bars at Chicago, the heaviest in a year, have further deferred deliveries. Excepting pig iron, the iron and steel market structure has generally been quickened in the past week. Scrap is active and still tending higher in most districts. Beehive coke is firmer with the gradual disappearance of surplus production. Steelmakers are more loath to part with semi-finished material, and those finishing mills which are not self-contained are compelled to look more closely to their supplies."

Electric Bond and Share.

Electric Bond and Share will receive about $1,627,500 through declaration of a $1.75 dividend by American and Foreign Power Company on its second preferred stocks, Series A. Electric Bond and Share owns about 930,000 shares of fully paid American and Foreign second preferred, and shortly after payment of balance due on subscriptions, will own 1,279,000 shares. This dividend declaration clears up the arrears on American and Foreign second preferred stock to the middle of 1928. It is expected the company will declare at least one and probably two more quarterly dividends in 1929. Meeting of Electric Bond and Share directors, at which it is expected consideration will be given to consolidating Electric Bond and Share Security Corporation, has not been called as yet, but may be expected in the near future. It is understood reorganization of the company may entail a stock split-up.

American Locomotive.

The order of 20 engines just received from Canadian Pacific Railway by American Locomotive adds $2,500,000 to the latter company's unfilled orders. As Locomotive went into 1929 with $19,000,000 of forward locomotive business this means the assurance of $21,500,000 business in the first half.

Equipment builders estimate there is a total of 360 engines "in the offing." Specifications have already been sent out for some of these. Of locomotive orders in the past month or so American Locomotive took the lion's share. This was due simply to the fact that roads buying were those which normally deal with American. While any estimate of 1929 orders is subject to reservations for contingencies, it is generally calculated that an annual gross business of $30,000,000 in new locomotives will enable the company to earn its $8 common dividend.

Big Margins Steady Market.

The fact that some brokers continue to demand wider margins on securities purchased is not a development to worry about. Every demand of this kind tends to strengthen rather than weaken what is called the market structure. For the past year or more brokers have been demanding wider margins, and this is one reason for the failure of professional operators to bring about demoralization. Customers' accounts are so well margined that customers do not begin to worry until stocks are down 20 points or more. Years ago when speculative trading was done largely on 5 per cent to 20 per cent margins, the market was honeycombed with stop loss orders, and when stocks began to slide they slid rapidly. The public is now a buyer on reactions rather than a seller.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

$15,568,000 NET J. & L. PROFITS '28

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE Witherow Steel Company has completed arrangements for the acquisition of the Dilworth, Porter Company, makers of railroad and boat spikes and tie plates.

A meeting will be called soon by the Witherow Steel Company to approve an increase in the common stock from 75,000 shares to 100,000 shares to provide for the merger.

As a part of the transaction the Colonial Trust Company will announce a bond issue on the Dilworth, Porter plant.* A portion of the second preferred stock of the Witherow Steel Company will be retired as well as some of the Witherow bonds.

WITHEROW supplies 80 per cent of the rear axles for automobile makers with the exception of Ford. It recently started the production of front axles and expects a substantial increase in its volume of business from this source.

Under its present capitalization Witherow Steel has outstanding 75,000 shares of no par common stock, $750,000 of 5 per cent cumulative first preferred, $800,000 of 7 per cent cumulative second preferred and $750,000 of first mortgage 6 per cent sinking fund bonds.

Moore, Leonard & Lynch have played an important part in bringing the two companies together and are understood to be underwriting the new issue of common stock.

THE Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation for 1928 reported the greatest net income since the war. The Pittsburgh Steel Company also published figures yesterday showing that its earnings in the six months ended December 31, 1928, were greater than in the entire fiscal year which ended June 30, 1928.

The statements of the two companies were somewhat disappointing in that the final quarter of 1928 was slightly less than the preceding three months, but the earnings of both organizations were good for the portion of the year covered.

The Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation showed net of $15,568,687, which was equivalent to $20 a share on the 573,320 shares of common stock after deducting dividends on the 7 per cent preferred stock.

The Pittsburgh Steel Company earned the dividends on its 105,000 shares of 7 per cent preferred stock for an entire year over two and one-third times in the six months for which figures have just been published. Net profit was $1,743,270 in the half year, which was equivalent to $5.43 a share on the 253,500 shares of common stock. In the entire year ended June 30, 1928, net was $1,342,141, or $2.40 a share.

THE company recently placed the common stock on a $1 annual dividend basis. The earnings for the six months were almost equal to dividend requirements on both classes of stock for an entire year.

Steel mills in this district gained a victory through the ruling by the Interstate Commerce Commission against increases in the rates on carload lots of iron and steel rods which were desired by the railroads. Wire rods, or rods intended to be drawn into wire, take a low freight rate. Several years ago the freight rate on rods which are not described as wire rods, but which can be used for the same purpose, came under dispute. The shippers and consumers claimed that they should take the wire rod rate while the roads sought a classification as finished steel products, which would have been about 50 per cent more.

NUMEROUS conferences were held between representatives of the shippers and the railroads to clarify the description of rods on which the billet rate should apply, but as an agreement could not be reached the railroads filed new tariffs eliminating rods, bolt, nail, rivet and wire, in coils, from the list of articles taking billet rates, which would have resulted in increasing the rates to the manufactured iron and steel basis.

Protests were filed, and the commission suspended the tariffs containing the increased rates and instituted an investigation, which resulted in a decision against the railroads.

BUGS BAER Says

Arthur "Bugs" Baer

WE did not win the Durant prize for the best suggestion relative to the enforcing of prohibition.

Our subtitle on this subject was:

"Stop drinking."

All we have to say that it is easier to break an amendment than a habit.

Prohibition is nine years old this month—to some people.

On other and less lawful calendars, the omelet ain't even an egg.

We have some ideas on the proposition and we would like to state them. Even a hip inspector cannot arrest you for what you have in your hat.

It's a nice baby.

But it has no brothers or sisters.

And it has been brought up on the bottle.

It's a bottle baby.

It is a talking doll that can say, "Mamma."

Which leaves papa out.

And when papa gets out, he is out for the night.

Starting at the source we discover that a grape has more horsepower than a watermelon.

Stop the berries from growing and the grain from sprouting and you reduce the mathematics of prohibition to simple gymnastics.

So long as there is a producer there will be a consumer. And you will find the wise guys in the middle.

You can hire a million legal hornets to sting the transgresser. But when you want a web spun across a tub you will have to engage the services of a spider. And America is a BIG YAT.

We still claim the only answer to the thirsty Question Mark is the non-stop solution:

"Stop drinking."

Maybe I'm Wrong

by JOHN P. MEDBURY

Several large cities are trying to reduce crime by raising the price on blackjacks and sandbags.

Ace of Cads

The fellow who's so mean that every time it rains he goes out and holds an umbrella over his ducks.

Vital Statistics

Records show that only one woman out of 10 isn't mercenary, and no man wants to get married nine times for nothing.

Among the Intelligensia

The average sophomore dresses as well as he can on a freshman's wardrobe.

Efficiency Experts

The dairymaid who milks the cows by shorthand.

You're Right

The only real way to enjoy an excursion is to miss the train.

Necessary Evils

Hollywood ministers are making a lot of dough. They get 10 per cent of the alimony.

Ideal Dumbbells

The guy who carries extra fuses in his pocket in case his girl's lights go out.

Take It or Leave It

If a reformer ever had a brilliant idea in his head it would get lost in one of the corners.

Our Own Vaudeville

Porch Climber—I hear you lost your burglar's tools; how did it happen?

Second Story Man—I got behind in the payments.

City Manager Is Urged In New Charter Proposal

Government of the proposed Metropolitan Pittsburgh, embracing the entire county, under the provision of an amendment to the state constitution, by a commission of nine and a city manager, is urged by the Civic Club of Allegheny County, a committee of which has placed the proposal before the Metropolitan Plan Commission to be included in the charter for the county-wide city.

One of the commissioners, who would be elective from nine districts, would be mayor under the plan and would have wide powers, including the appointment of the city manager, and his removal, with the consent of the commissioners. The latter would have the power of impeachment of either or both the mayor and city manager.

The committee also proposed that elective offices should be confined to the nine commissioners, controller, district attorney and sheriff, other officers to be appointed by the courts or city manager.

Employment of a city manager is an experiment that has been tried with success in some cities and it is a plan that has been urged in some local quarters. Agitation has been mostly propaganda, however, and never has reached a point of serious consideration before. Now it comes to the fore with the approval of prominent and reputable citizens as the expression of the view of an important civic organization.

So far as Pittsburgh is concerned, the city manager plan never would receive serious consideration were it not for the melancholy fact that the electorate here has not been able to provide for itself a satisfactory city government. Voters have taken what the bosses have given them, in most cases. There is no proof that the city manager plan would end the scandalous situation—but advocates of almost any change will get a sympathetic hearing in Pittsburgh nowadays.

Like the recent proposal of a citizens' group for a unified park system and government, it is a matter that should, and no doubt will, receive deep consideration. Our new charter will align us to unfamiliar associations and it were well that we foresee, as far as possible, how we may be involved, in order to escape future entanglements that could prove to be serious.

In this connection, it is pertinent to state that this department, digesting the legislation proposed for park control recently, assumed the word "manager" meant a park manager, and commented that the power given him in appointment of a park board was putting the cart before the horse. "City manager," not written in the text, it has been explained, was what was meant, this official to have the power appointment of five of seven park directors, one each of the other two to be named by the city superintendent and county superintendent of schools.

Another group appearing before the commission urged legislation covering the minor courts of the county, to prevent the exploitation of foreign-born citizens, as is alleged to be a practice under the present system. The civic club also made a minor court proposal, urging the establishment of a tribunal to handle civil claims not exceeding $100.

A commendable feature of these proposals, in addition to whatever they contain that is of civic value, is the interest in the welfare of the people of the county that is manifest in presenting them. It is evident that the sponsors have made extended and exhaustive study of the matters and now put them forward for the benefit of all. That is the highest citizenship.

Incidentally, it is announced the commission will close hearings on the proposed charter Saturday. If you have any suggestion to make now is the time to make it.

Charles J. Taylor, Dead, Leaves Void in Art World

The death of Charles J. Taylor, head of the department of painting and decoration, college of fine arts, Carnegie Institute of Technology, robs the United States of one of its foremost illustrators and of a man whose whimsical fancy and artistic skill has added much to the charm of life. Coming to Pittsburgh in 1911, he had then behind him many fruitful years in which his work had established him with a public reputation as an authority on art. And he had spun a chord between himself and the many thousands who knew him only through his signature on the delightful drawings that spoke a friendly message to the soul.

His Taylor-Made Girl was a familiar miss, appealing and dainty. His illustrations for H. C. Bunner's "Short Sixes" and the same author's later "More Short Sixes" were as enchanting as these writings were to those who read them originally in Puck and later in book form more than 30 years ago. His "The Hanging of the Crane," breathing a haunting romance of a day far earlier than his own, had a homey and beautifully sentimental atmosphere that made the print a popular one as a wedding gift. C. J. Taylor's art went into the home as well as the formal gallery, and it gave the home it entered something worth while.

Governor Merits Praise; Opposes Coal-Iron Police

Congratulations to Gov. John S. Fisher for his announced opposition to the coal and iron police. His disapproval of this un-American method of guarding coal properties during labor troubles is said to be reflected in his intention to ask the Legislature to provide for increasing the state police from 300 to 422 men, the number authorized by law, but not employed because previous Legislatures have not made sufficient appropriation.

Gov. Fisher takes a lead in this matter that will meet with public approval. It is very satisfying to see the executive initiate a reform of an evil that cries for correction. It is a subject that would have come before our law-makers through other channels, no doubt, but everybody who has been struck by the injustice and shame to the state that exists in the periodical appearance of coal and iron police will be pleased to see the head of the commonwealth the first to seek a remedy.

Coal and iron police, as they have employed in this state, have no legitimate cause for existence in enlightened America.

Tales That Are Told

A Lawyer's Advice

He strolled into the club in which he had managed to gain admission as a member, and looked round to see whether there was anybody there he knew.

After a few minutes he noticed a well-known barrister reading by a window. He walked over and held out his hand, the palm facing downwards.

On his fourth finger glittered a diamond he had just bought.

"What do you think of that?" he asked, with an air of pride.

"It's a good stone," murmured the barrister acidly. "But if I were you I'd sell it and buy a nail-brush."

Just Missed It

They entered the paneled hall, and the rich manufacturer pointed to its magnificent appointments.

"See," he said, "I chose every piece myself."

The visitor was duly impressed. Suddenly he caught sight of a magnificent picture and started perceptibly.

"Ah," remarked the other, pointing to the distinguished cavalier that stared haughtily down at them from his gilded frame, "that is one of my ancestors."

"And he was very nearly one of mine," returned the visitor. "I bid up to $500 for him myself."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

Girls have to have some reason for marrying the men they finally get. One reason is as good as another, I reckon, and it's hard to tell how often they're telling the truth. But there was a woman that threw over one fellow and married another. The fellow she got rid of met her a couple of months later and says, "Say, how do you like your husband now?"

"Fine, I like him a lot better than your wife likes you. She says you're out most every night."

"Well, but did you find out yet that your husband served time in the pen?"

"Sure, I knew it all the time. That's where he learned the habit of staying in."

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Old Poems

Old poems tell far more always
Than what the poet penned;
Quaint line, outmoded word betrays
New meanings long years lend.
With time into the stanzas creeps
A rare revealing light,
Beneath whose rays no secret keeps
Its heritage of night.
Old poems tell the poet's tale
Of scenes alight with love
Or cruel as a winter's gale
Through which strange phantoms move.
But, ah! they tell far more than this;
In mirth or misery,
Outlined through tales of woe or bliss,
The poet's self we see.
Untouched by years, undimmed by time,
We see the poet move
And through this mimic world of rhyme
We glimpse his hopes, his love!

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

Thousands of unhappily married couples bring their problems to this office every year and one cause is responsible for nearly all their troubles.

This cause is NOT unfaithfulness nor cruelty nor any of the commonly accepted reasons for marital unhappiness. It is simply DISHONESTY.

Love provides more delights than any other human experience—it also provokes more lies.

We meet—we are attracted—henceforth we make every effort to sustain that attraction. We stop being Ourselves—we try to be the person which we imagine our loved one wishes us to be.

Agnes, who is a business woman to the roots of her being, pretends to adore housework. Fred, who is a born gypsy, pretends to have a passion for banking.

Filled with romantic enthusiasm, they lie gloriously to each other, and their marital partnership begins under the glamor of those fairy tales.

They're sincere. Agnes honestly believes that she will develop a love of housework. Fred honestly intends to become a good banker. But presently Agnes is longing for her old job and stacking the breakfast dishes, and Fred is letting the accounts slide while he dreams of hiking through Yellowstone.

They both grow bored, rebellious. They both feel tricked and trapped.

"I thought you said you were a swell housekeeper," sneers Fred.

"And I thought you wanted to have a regular home 'n' everything," snaps Agnes.

The old lies rise up and bring them to judgment. Their happiness is wrecked. They part. The split was inevitable. But it wouldn't have been inevitable if they had faced and discussed the truth about themselves. If Agnes had been honest about her hunger for offices, and if Fred had been honest about his gypsy trails, they might have arrived at a working compromise which would have satisfied both their natures. But instead they lied and cheated themselves and each other.

There is a certain, peculiar Truth for each one of us. That Truth can't be denied. It is built into our characters as our bones are built into our bodies. It is the product of our early training and environment, our physical inheritance, our glandular structure—all that has gone to the making of our physical and mental life. For a time that Truth may be evaded. Under the excitement of love or anger or curiosity we may undertake ventures which are alien to our spirits. But sooner or later we come back to our real selves. And if we have denied those real selves, we must pay a heavy penalty.

Face the Truth about yourself. Study the terms and conditions which govern your life. Before you enter into any kind of a partnership, state your terms. State the peculiar needs of YOUR NATURE.

DON'T BE AFRAID TO STATE THOSE NEEDS. YOU HAVE AS MUCH RIGHT TO BE YOU AS HE HAS A RIGHT TO BE HE.

If by stating your terms you lose love, you'll lose it anyway. For though you may remain dumb concerning the Truth about yourself, life will not remain dumb. Sooner or later you'll have to BE Yourself. You'll find it far better to Be Yourself right from the start.

CRUMPLED SPACE

By Garrett P. Serviss

From the fact that a recently discovered and apparently excessively remote nebula is traveling away from us at a speed of something like 2,500 miles per second, advocates of the Einstein relativity theory draw the conclusion that "space is limited," and that we live in a "closed universe." Or, as one puts it, "the measured velocity of 2,500 miles a second is, I believe, not a measure of actual motion but more probably a measure of 'crumpling of space,' a relativity effect. One of the deductions from the general theory of relativity is that the space-time universe is 'finite but unbounded,' and that very distant objects should show a spurious velocity of recession."

Another deduction from the same source of upsetting conclusions is that if one should start to travel with the speed of light through space he would, though traveling in a "straight line," eventually come back to the point from which he started. The only physical illustration, or example offered of what this means is the case of the surface of a globe, where it is true that "straight lines" such as meridians (which of course are not straight at all, but circular) do run 'round into themselves.

But, it is said, the curvature of space is not really like that of the surface of a sphere, but is something inherent in the constitution of "space-time." Put the three dimensions of space together with the one dimension of time, treat them with the new, free mathematics, and you have the four-dimensional "closed," or "finite but unbounded," universe of general relativity.

Get a clear conception of all that and then you can understand "crumpled space," and "puckers of space," and accept as gospel the statement that if anyone could travel with the speed of light he would have "immortality anad eternal youth."

People are continually asking for a "plain and simple explanation" of the "fourth dimension" and of Einstein's relativity theory. No such explanation can be given, not only because the conceptions constituting these theories lie outside of common reasoning and common experience, but also because they are deductions from mathematical methods which reject the fundamental data on which the older mathematics rested. They challenge the old Euclidian geometry, which is based on human experience of the world, as being inapplicable in a wider sense, and they choose their own assumptions regardless of "facts" which they assume are only deceptions due to human limitations.

These extraordinary deductions, however consistent with themselves, and however successful in accounting for certain phenomena, can only be explained to the layman by way of analogies and illustrations, and the efforts in this direction made by the most famous advocates of the theory have not been encouraging, since their principal result has been only to create a deeper confusion for those who have no knowledge of the new mathematics, and to give to many the impression that the whole thing is a kind of Alice in Wonderest land mystification. Yet the insistent demand for light on this subject continues.

Bible Passages

Christ's Crucifixion

(John 19; 1-22.)

Then Pilate therefore took Jesus, and scourged him.

And the soldiers platted a crown of thorns, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple robe.

And said, Hail, King of the Jews! and they smote him with their hands.

Pilate therefore went forth again, and saith unto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that you may know that I find no fault in him.

Then Jesus came forth, wearing the crown of thorns, and the purple robe. And Pilate saith unto them, Behold the man!

When the chief priests therefore and officers saw him, they cried out, saying, Crucify him, crucify him. Pilate saith unto them, Take ye him, and crucify him: for I find no fault in him.

The Jews answered him, We have a law, and by our law he ought to die, because he made himself the Son of God.

When Pilate therefore heard that saying, he was the more afraid;

And went again into the judgment hall, and saith unto Jesus, Whence art thou? But Jesus gave him no answer.

Then saith Pilate unto him, Speakest thou not unto me? knowest thou not that I have power to crucify thee, and have power to release thee?

Jesus answered, Thou couldest have no power at all against me, except it were given thee from above: therefore he that delivered me unto thee hath the greater sin.

And from thenceforth Pilate sought to release him: but the Jews cried out, saying, If thou let this man go, thou art not Caesar's friend: whosoever maketh himself a king speaketh against Caesar.

When Pilate therefore heard that saying, he brought Jesus forth, and sat down in the judgment seat in a place that is called the Pavement, but in the Hebrew, Gabbatha.

And it was the preparation of the passover, and about the sixth hour: and he saith unto the Jews, Behold your King!

But they cried out, Away with him, away with him, crucify him. Pilate saith unto them, Shall I crucify your King? The chief priests answered, We have no king but Caesar.

Then delivered he him therefore unto them to be crucified. And they took Jesus, and led him away.

And he bearing his cross went forth into a place called the place of a skull, which is called in the Hebrew Golgotha:

Where they crucified him, and two others with him, on either side one, and Jesus in the midst.

And Pilate wrote a title, and put it on the cross. And the writing was, JESUS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE JEWS.

This title then read many of the Jews: for the place where Jesus was crucified was nigh to the city: and it was written in Hebrew, and Greek, and Latin.

Then said the chief priests of the Jews to Pilate, Write not, The King of the Jews; but that he said, I am King of the Jews.

Pilate answered, What I have written I have written.

Synthetic wool is likely to pop into the market at any moment; have you made factory plans accordingly?

A process has been discovered for plating iron with aluminum; are you aware of it?

Do you receive Department of Commerce bulletins? Merchants, exporters and manufacturers who miss 'em aren't preposted on waste prevention, refuse utilization, simplified auditing, advanced sales promotion, recent efficiencies or additional foreign needs.

You're traveling by the slow trains of thought; study the express schedule.

Yesterday's information is already ash. The map of possibility charts another frontier each morning.

The news is a net in which all opportunity is caught. Give your paper a thorough search and follow its cues and clues.

The earth took a round-trip last night; and underwent a million strange experiences during the journey. At least one of them affects your affairs.

Check up or check out.

O. O. McINTYRE

At sea—Fog as thick as pea soup today. And every three minutes the croak of the horn—like a giant bull frog. A storm gives a warning, but a ship in the fog has the helplessness of a blindfolded man creeping toward a precipice. The deck is a blurry mist, and after apologizing to several posts, I left it flat.

In the writing room I came upon the trail of something or other. An abandoned letter head contained this feminine scrawl: "Booful baby—is oo tumin for oo itsum Bright Eyes for itsy-bitsy cocktail at 5. Booful—" and then it ended abruptly. Probably one of those misunderstood-at-home husbands aboard.

While nibbling the end of a pen—I can never think of a soul to write to on a ship—a silver-haired gentleman with black pince-nez asked for my blotter as prelude to conversation. He has something to do with diamond mines in Kimberly and wanted me to look at a prospectus. He didn't know I'm a Scotch boy.

Today I went shopping right smack in the middle of the ocean. As you've probably heard at least twice, a great liner is a floating city. One may shop at a variety of little stores for everything from perfume to fur coats. There are barbers, manicurists, doctors, a dentist, masseurs, gymnasiums, stenographers and notaries public.

There is a movie show every day, the benefit concert with usually remarkable talent, tennis squash, a swimming pool and the usual variety of deck games and the professional boxing. Tea dancing and cabaret. Also Catholic, Protestant and Christian Science religious services.

On the top deck is a kennel for dogs in charge of a veterinary. Small dogs are permitted in cabins. American railroads could stimulate much good will by observing the same tolerance trans-Atlantic liners show household pets. Many Americans do their traveling abroad for this reason.

There are some 20 dogs, a pet fox, two marmosets and a variety of birds aboard. And down in the steerage an old fellow, who could match whiskers with Trader Horn and have enough left over to stuff a pillow, has a pet lizard he is reported to carry in his beard. I must drop down.

Last night I sat until very late on top deck near the prow. The ocean inspires introspection that is a bit saddening. Seamen are always taciturn and usually of a religious bent. They enjoy solitude—the sea is sufficient companionship. In the starless gloom there seemed to be much whispering and wraith-like whorls of queer arabesques. O, Mi! Every mariner "hears voices" and "sees things." I know that after two hours of this seclusion in the immense void I was tremendously moved by something unexplainable, resolved to be a better boy, write more often to the folks and quit talking to traffic cops. Nothing can make a man feel so dreadfully unimportant as an ocean.

Rene Gasnier, the steward, is a pocket edition of Montague Glass. His memory is astounding. Once he has met you, he can years later recall your name, when you made your last voyage with him, the condition of the weather and doubtless the size of your tip.

Important passengers are summoned in a grand manner to the captain's office for cocktails. The captain rarely drinks more than a polite sip as a salutation. He is a fellow of deep learning and a linguist. Of all the highly specialized callings, his is least remunerative. There is no sea law a man must go down with his ship. It is merely a custom—an acknowledging and tragic bow to defeat.

RIGHT ANGLES

By Alexander Cairns

Hippocrates, the doctor, gives us a daily dozen warnings about saving the famous nine stitches.

He tells us that the only artificial lump on the body which may be neglected is the pocket bulging with bullion. Anything else may be a cancer gathering momentum.

And he swears by the heart of Mercury that the whirlwind of the great white plague, consumption, might be bagged and cooped if attacked when it is only a zephyr moaning through the lungs.

Since men are hopeless addicts of the habit of congealing error as well as truth in an alleged axiom, we always cock a suspicious eye at all such literary fossils as "a stitch in time saves nine."

But this save-nine aphorism rings as true as the blacksmith's anvil. It is ever easier to keep up than to catch up.

Sanitariums are packed sardine-like with last resorters, people who do right as a last resort after doing wrong as a life principle. No wonder they are the exasperation of every medical staff.

And, of course, the doctors have no corner on this truth. The stock is well distributed among all the livings of men.

To be forehanded instead of hindhanded is a mark of mental balance and cultural perfection.

To nip in the bud the nightshade and upas tree is to assure the flora and fruitage of joy.

An Oriental sage once said, "One can chase a thousand, and two put ten thousand to flight." Applied to the theme in hand that law would read:

Timeliness does the task in an hour, but neglect in a thousand hours.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Most of the business letters sent out are so ordinary, so cold and so routine in phrasing that all in a day's mail might have been turned out to a greater or less degree by the same person.

An original touch, the human element and variation of pattern would enhance appeal and increase the power of conviction.

Cold facts, coming letter after letter, much in the same sequence and style phraseology have a deadening effect upon those who read them.

There should not be an attempt to write smart letters—letters which give the impression that the writer is trying to present something bright and sparklingly different.

But business letters need not adhere to hard and set rules of business correspondence, when a word or a line of real human touch might make them more attractive.

Studied effort does not create a favorable impression.

But a feeling of direct words-of-mouth with the writer of a business letter establishes a warmer contact.

The man who is natural in his dictation creates the best feeling for his goods, himself and his company.
